FEWER WEDDINGS, MORE DIVORCES, IN STATE, COUNTY

Dan Cupid Badly Mauls in Face of Records Compiled
by Federal Government

Marriages in Wisconsin are rapidly decreasing in number and divorces in Wisconsin are showing almost as rapid an increase according to a report received by the department of commerce at Washington. Marriages performed in Wisconsin during 1924 numbered 15,912, while in 1923 a total of 17,776 marriages were performed in the state. The decrease in marriages performed was 1,864 or a loss of 10.5 per cent. On the other hand divorces in 1924 showed an increase of 9.1 per cent over divorces granted in 1923. Divorces for 1924 numbered 2,651, while in 1923 there were but 2,091. This is an increase of 190 divorces reported in 1924 over 1923 figures.

MORE DIVORCES HERE
Outagamie-co turned in an even more alarming report on marriages and divorces than the report of the state as a whole figuring on the percentage basis. There were 262 marriages in the county in 1924 as compared with 345 marriages in 1923. This is a decrease of 83 marriages or almost a 25 per cent loss. The divorce statistics for the county are as startling. There were 58 divorces granted in 1924 and only 36 granted in 1923. This is an increase of 12 divorces during 1924 or an increase of exactly 33 1/3 per cent.

Counties near Outagamie showed the same tendency toward fewer marriages and more divorces. Winnebago-co had 440 marriages in 1924 as compared with 501 in 1923. Divorces in Winnebago-co were 108 in 1924 and 91 in 1923, not such a large percentage of increase as was recorded in Outagamie-co. In Brown-co there were 395 marriages in 1924 and 442 in 1923. Divorces in Brown-co numbered 84 for 1924 and 65 for 1923. In Fond du Lac-co the total of marriages for 1924 came fairly close to the number of marriages in 1923. The marriages performed in that county for 1924 totaled 456, while for 1923 the number was 404. There were also fewer divorces in Fond du Lac-co in 1924 than in 1923. In 1923 45 divorces were granted while in 1924 only 32 divorces were granted. Calumet-co had 94 marriages in 1924 and 104 in 1923. Five divorces were recorded in Calumet-co in 1923, and only four in 1924. In Shawano-co there were 154 marriages in 1924 and 223 in 1923, while the divorces in that county were 19 for 1924 and 25 for 1923. Waushara-co had 199 marriages and 28 divorces in 1924, and 254 marriages and 19 divorces for 1923. In Milwaukee-co 4,915 couples were married during 1924 as compared to 5,340 for 1923. In that county divorces for 1924 totaled 547, and in 1923 they numbered 494.

Meeting in Wausau

John E. Hantschel, county clerk of Outagamie-co, is scheduled to take part in the first day's program of the twentieth annual convention of the Wisconsin County Clerks association which is to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 23, 24 and 25 at Wausau, according to the program for the sessions issued this week. Hotel Wausau will be headquarters for the convention delegates. The program includes talks by Fred R. Zimmerman, secretary of state, on Auto Licenses; J. T. Donahue, state highway engineer, on New Highway Laws; Paul M. Reynolds, representative of the Wisconsin tax commission; Elmer S. Hall, conservation commissioner, on Conservation; L. F. Shoemaker of Waupaca-co on Thirty Years Experience as a County Clerk. Another feature will be an automobile trip to points of interest around Wausau. Saturday's session will be taken up largely with the election of officers and setting the date for the 1926 convention.

BEAN CANNING STARTS AT HORTONVILLE PLANT

Bean canning has been started by the Hortonville canning factory, according to Robert Rohm, rural mail carrier. A station is located at Mr. Rohm's farm on rural route 4 where the farmers bring their beans in sacks, and leave them for the canning company to collect. John Baum, another farmer on Route 4 planted 22 acres of beans, and now is harvesting his crop. The bean season will last until late fall as many plantings are made.

The Hortonville canning factory has practically completed canning the late crop of peas.

WISCONSIN "CLEANEST" STATE IN AMERICA

In 1850 Wisconsin had few bathtubs, but even then it was the custom for mother to heat the water and give Johnny his weekly dousing.

Now, Wisconsin has more bathtubs per capita than any state in the union, thus proving the value of early training.

Moreover, Wisconsin boasts more home owning families in relation to its population than any other state.

And another honor—Wisconsin is at the top of electrically lighted homes.

These facts were announced by the research department of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association, Washington.

NIGHT AIR MAIL POPULAR HERE

Appleton People Make Extensive Use of Fast Mail Service to New York

Airmail letters to and from Appleton have slightly increased in number since the inauguration of the night flying service between New York and Chicago this month, according to William H. Zuehlke, Appleton postmaster.

Air mail letters from Appleton to New York, and to cities between Chicago and New York should be mailed by 11 o'clock in the morning at Appleton if they are to be taken on the night flight to New York.

These letters leave Appleton on the 12:20 P. M. train for Chicago. The mail plane leaves Chicago at 7:30 in the evening, and arrives in New York at 7:30 the following morning, and the letters are delivered at their destination in New York that morning.

Air mail letters mailed in Appleton too late to be put on the 12:20 train will be put on the day plane, and will arrive in New York at about the same time they would arrive by train. Day air mail costs eight cents an ounce, while the rate for night air mail is ten cents an ounce.

Bids now are being called for from private companies who will operate branch and feeder air mail lines for the government. These lines will extend the air mail service to all the principal cities of the country. The transcontinental air mail service is government owned and operated.

FOUR FLORISTS WILL ATTEND CONVENTION

Four Appleton florists will attend the annual convention of the Wisconsin State Florists association which will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, July 21 and 22 at Sheboygan. Local men who will attend are Miles Meland of the Junction greenhouses, J. H. Boelter of Riverside greenhouse and John H. Kamps of the Market Garden and Floral Co. More than 200 delegates are expected from all parts of the state. Headquarters for the sessions will be in the Association of Commerce rooms in the Security-bldg.

Prominent speakers for the 2-day session include Dr. J. E. Cannady of Sedalia, Mo., head of the Standard School of Floriculture, a correspondence school in practical floriculture, and the Rev. William T. Dorward of Milwaukee. Another speaker is still to be engaged.

LITTLE CHANGE IN CABBAGE ACREAGE HERE

Cabbage growers of Outagamie-co have planted practically the same acreage of cabbage as last year according to a report made in the July 1 survey of the State and Federal Livestock Reporting Service of Madison. Outagamie, Racine and Kenosha-cos are the leading cabbage raising counties of the state and all have planted practically the same acreage of cabbage as last year according to the survey report. New York cabbage growers with whom Wisconsin producers compete have cut their acreage about 10 per cent due to low prices for the bumper crop in that state last year.

WILLYS-KNIGHT FINE MOTOR CARS

If You Knew What Every Willys-Knight Owner Knows, You'd be driving a Willys-Knight Car

Up to June 30, this year, there were 200,000 Willys-Knight cars in active service.

And on that day and date, those owners were experiencing a degree of car-satisfaction the average owner wouldn't believe could exist in any motor car.

30,000, 40,000, 50,000 miles—not a day out of active commission, not a dollar spent for engine repairs... Not an uncommon experience among Willys-Knight owners... No carbon troubles. No valves to grind.

The patented Willys-Knight engine does away with both...

To the exceptional engine efficiency of the Willys-Knight is added another exclusive advantage—absolute lack of vibration, due to the Lanchester Balancer. The Willys-Knight is the only automobile in the United States equipped with this device...

These things the Willys-Knight owner knows, and, knowing, counts on keeping his Willys-Knight two and three times as long as any other car.

UNSCRUPULOUS DEALERS SELL INFERIOR COAL
Pocahontas Offers Opportunity to Profit at Expense of Patrons
In the production of coal, Nature did not use identically the same conditions for each and every field. The heat, earth pressure and water conditions that turned great forests into beds of the product known to us as coal, varied in each and every vein and field.
There is a wide range of difference in its quality as taken from the mines because of these varying natural conditions employed in its early making. For this reason, Pocahontas Coals especially offer unusual opportunities for an unscrupulous dealer to make money by supplying an inferior product.
The experienced and reliable dealer buys his Pocahontas on a performance test. He knows that he is securing a good product. You know that you are getting good coal because of the confidence you place in his experience and integrity.
The unscrupulous dealer buys inferior Pocahontas and the consumer learns of its inferiority only after he has tried to get efficient and economical heat out of it.
Buy Pocahontas Coal from established and reliable dealers. Don't waste your time and money upon a dealer who has no established yard or place of business. Buy from men whose record as citizens and business men prove that they merit your business.
Do this and you know that you are getting the best Pocahontas Coal obtainable.

BE CAREFUL IN PURCHASES OF RUBBER STOCKS

Artificial Price Fixing Bound to Have Serious Results,
Economist Says

Babson, Park, Mass. — Roger W. Babson today was asked his opinion relative to the great advance in the price of rubber and what its effect will be on tires and other rubber goods, as well as on the securities of the leading rubber companies. Mr. Babson's official statement is as follows:

"For some years the supply of rubber has exceeded the demand. Owing to the great profit made by rubber plantations, twenty to twenty-five years ago, there was an excess of planting. Rubber trees were then set out in great quantities in order to sell securities of plantation companies. As a result there has been over-production with very low prices. This has happened notwithstanding the increased demand for rubber due to the automobile and other uses. A year ago, the price of rubber was from 15c to 18c compared with a normal price of around $1 a pound twenty years ago.

ENGLAND IN CONTROL
"Two or three years ago the English people began to realize that they were supplying the rest of the world with rubber and were selling it at a loss. (Statistics show that today England controls 60 per cent to 70 per cent of the production even at the much higher prices.) Therefore the English people began to ask themselves why it was that if they controlled the market, they could not also control the price. They could see no reason why England should supply rubber, at a loss, to the American people to use in automobile joy riding, for we use in this country over 70 per cent of the world's consumption of rubber while England uses but 3 per cent. Thereupon they devised a plan to restrict production and stimulate the prices. This is called the Stevenson Plan and roughly is as follows:

"The mechanism of the Plan is that with every advance of five cents or more in the market, 50,000 rubber would be distributed; and with every decline of the same proportion, the output would correspondingly be restricted. This plan was devised to restrict output according to the price level. The original attempt to put this plan into operation was considered a failure; but the second attempt has proven far more effective than was ever expected. In fact, it has been more or less a run-away proposition.

"Stocks of rubber in London are under 6,000 tons or about the lowest figure on record. This compares with around 50,000 tons held a year ago and an average supply of approximately 75,000 tons. Fear of a scarcity and a speculative rush to market are largely responsible for the high price level. Although there is no definite sign that the upward movement has culminated, it is apparent that it can not go on indefinitely. There is no world scarcity of rubber. Although supplies are down, the producing capacity is large. The following figures show the growth in output in recent years:

1915	158,702 long tons
1916	201,598
1917	265,688
1918	286,579
1919	326,350
1920	343,731
1921	293,060
1922	403,172
1923	399,415
1924	414,000

HOW LONG WILL IT LAST?
"Although England, from an ethical point of view, may be justified in what she has done, yet economists are very doubtful how long England can continue this policy. At several times in history, attempts have been made to control the market on wheat, corn, coffee, tea, copper, and even bullion. All of these corners were successful for a time, but they ultimately blew up with a tremendous drop in the price of the commodity.

Even Keel Of Interest Is Big Help To U. S. Business

IS THIS A GAIN FOR BUSINESS
BEFORE RESERVE ACT AND AFTER

BY JOHN T. FLYNN
NEW YORK.—A recent study of interest rates reveals a very peculiar condition in our present financial structure, and that is the elimination of the incessant fluctuation of interest rates. The chart printed with this review shows how interest rates were leaping up and down all through the year until the passage of the Federal reserve act. Since that time the line representing interest rates has been smoothed out and deprived of its nervous oscillations. All through this year rates have remained quite even. The fact becomes of some interest in view of what seems a fairly well advanced plan to affect the Federal Reserve Banks at the next session of Congress.

There had been a little tendency toward hardening money rates, but the flood of funds for reinvestment from dividends and interest has eased that situation off again.

Looking forward to business two important factors are worth considering. One is the iron and steel industry; the other is the farm. The former is valuable, particularly at this time, as presenting a fairly accurate picture of the whole of business. The latter is important because of the bearing it will have on business this fall.

The turn in the iron and steel industry is not far distant. The stage is not set for any large or sharp advance, however, but a short period of stability is probable, followed by only moderate advances. There has been no such drastic curtailment, either on the part of producers or consumers, as to indicate any sharp or prolonged upswing in prices.

1. Production of steel ingots is normal and promises to continue so for some time. The readjustment of production to demand has been nearly effected, and that without any drastic slump.

2. Unfilled orders are rather small and have recently declined more rapidly. The figure is now below the 1921 bottom and in view of continued good consumption should soon reflect improvement.

3. The decline in the average of finished steel prices is nearing the bottom figure, and is almost certain that the minimum will be reached not later than August. Already the average of finished steel prices is lower than at any time in 1924, the Economists state that very likely this same result will happen in connection with this rubber pool. On the other hand, it must be recognized that the English are very shrewd and must have considered the previous attempts to corner the market. It must be admitted that the English plan is an improvement on all previous plans that have been devised to control the market in cereals, coffee, silks, etc. Still, it is an old German proverb that, 'trees never grow to reach the sky' and this proverb is absolutely true. Moreover, a jump from 75c to 75c in less than a year is a terrific jump and presents a great temptation for rubber bootlegging. If this abnormal situation continues any length of time it will again inspire overproduction and perhaps the planting of more rubber trees, which is just what the English wish to discourage.

"This plan was devised to bring about a top price for rubber which has approximately been reached. It should, however, be said, in justice to the British, that the present high price of rubber is only for spot delivery. Rubber can now be contracted for fall delivery around 75c. Many American manufacturers were buying on a hand-to-mouth basis and were caught napping. These people are now bidding against one another in a frantic attempt to get spot delivery. Thus it is not the fault of the English that spot delivery is so expensive. The price of 75c—nevertheless—compares with about 20c of a short time ago and this trebling of the price is almost wholly due to the premeditated manipulations of the British.

June average being 2.44c. against 2.466c. in October last year.

Iron Markets at Bottom Level
The price of pig iron, as reflected in the monthly averages, showed another decrease in June. The June average was $19.22, which is the lowest since March, 1922. More recently the composite declined to $18.96. It will be noted that the rate of decline in iron prices has become considerably less sharp. This usually precedes a turn for the better.

June saw a further decrease in the production of pig iron, though the decline was less rapid than in May. Iron production is now decidedly below theoretical requirements and has been so for at least two months. Production of pig iron has for more than two months declined more rapidly than the price.

According to the best information available the estimated stocks of merchant pig iron have shown little change. While there are probably considerably less than a year ago, they are still rather large and judging by the past no considerable increase in pig iron prices is likely until the stocks show a decrease.

Reports of concessions recently made have the ear-marks of those last cuts which are often made just preceding greater strength in the iron market.

Conclusion: The bottom of the iron market is near. The situation, however, does not suggest that there will be any sharp or large increase in iron prices this year. The gain which are anticipated will be very moderate. Greater strength will probably develop before the end of August.

All Eyes on Canada

As to the far, it is not possible to say precisely what lies ahead. Our winter wheat crop will of course be short. It remains to be seen how far this will be offset by the present prospect for a large spring wheat crop. The bad part in this situation is the fact that with a short crop there is not any too much hope for a high price as the European and Canadian supplies promise to be large. The estimated yield on corn looks like three billion bushels. This has been exceeded but twice. The cotton crop will be large thus cutting the price there. And while this will injure the return to the cotton farmers, it will help the sorely tried textile industry.

Returning to the wheat crop, the truth is that the key to that situation is held by the Canadian farmers. The thing to watch, therefore, is Canadian wheat.

"We find a great divergence of opinion among bankers regarding the effect of the English plan and rubber securities. Some of the American companies which have no plantations of their own, especially if they have only a small supply of rubber on hand, must suffer from this present high price. On the other hand, those companies which own their own plantations or which have a large supply on hand will temporarily make great profits. Many of these may suffer next year when this present supply is run out. Companies, like the United States Rubber Company and possibly the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company and the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, which have interests in plantations of their own, are in an unusually unique situation. They can now benefit from the supply they have on hand and when that is exhausted can—to a certain extent—depend on their own plantations. These companies are in a very good position. Of course, this high price for rubber ultimately means a higher price for rubber goods; and as prices go up, sales fall off. This condition in turn eventually affects all rubber securities. Certainly this higher price of rubber cannot be looked upon as fundamentally a bullish factor on the securities of any tire companies. Where some companies will gain, others will suffer. For this reason.

COMFORT AND SAFETY FOUND IN THIS STOVE

Traction Company Product
Constructed to Give Best Satisfaction

Comfort, safety, and low operating costs are outstanding characteristics of Hotpoint automatic electric ranges sold by the Wisconsin Traction, Light Heat and Power Co. A Hotpoint electric range is a joy to the housewife because it does not heat up the kitchen no matter how long it is kept going. The range is lined with mineral wool which keeps all heat within it. A plant or other delicate object subject to destruction by the least degree of excessive heat may be placed on the white porcelain top of a Hotpoint range, and will keep perfectly cool, while the temperature within the range may be as high as 500 degrees.

It takes only 15 minutes to heat a Hotpoint automatic range oven to a temperature of 500 degrees. The oven will retain this temperature for at least two hours, long enough to do any baking which may be desired. The new Hotpoint is equipped with reversible switches, an advance over older models of electric ranges which were equipped with switches which were non-reversible. The top plates or grids are all interchangeable, and are welded units rather than riveted units.

Hotpoint ranges are made from the heaviest and most durable elements available, and are made to stand up under the heaviest strains which any stove could be called upon to bear. The durable white porcelain is guaranteed not to chip or crack from heat. The interior wiring of the Hotpoint range is very simple, and very safe. There is no danger of a short circuit because of safety devices which are installed with the wiring. The broiler and bake oven are in one compartment and are interchangeable.

Electric current is provided for Hotpoint ranges at a special low cost. A special meter is installed with the electric range, and the cost for current to the range averages 3 1/2 cents per kilowatt-hour. One may use any electrical appliance with the exception of electric lights at this low rate. Hot point electric ranges, all equipped with automatic controls range in price from $95 to $300.

Investors should carefully look over their rubber securities.

"Investors should also be prepared for a possible unfortunate international situation developing. Such a misfortune might be very detrimental to securities in general. Up to the present time, public sentiment and connected with rubber—has been in favor of the English. The English have been first to acknowledge their war debts; and in a many way are paying principal and interest. Therefore, it seemed only fair to the American people that the English should be entitled to make a legitimate profit on rubber. If, however, they should squeeze us too hard, we could develop a like situation with cotton, possibly other products, which might lead to some bitter international controversies. However, before this develops it is very possible that Congress will make a strong declaration in favor of free and uninterrupted movement of basic raw materials as essential to world trade restoration. This would effectively strike at the English rubber restriction and might result in a modification of the Stevenson Plan. I sincerely hope that this will be the case as I don't believe in any artificial price fixing plans. Furthermore, for one nation to retaliate by applying the Stevenson Plan to cotton, would result in sending cotton to a price double or treble present quotations. This would be greatly resented by the rest of the world and might easily result in another war. In the meantime, business continues on the same even keel, the Babsonchart now registering 1 per cent above normal."

POLITICS ON THE LORD'S DAY
Adjutant-General Ralph M. Immell has issued an invitation to inspect the Wisconsin military reservation at Camp Douglas, in which he announces that Governor's Day is set for Sunday, July 19th.
Never in the history of the Wisconsin National Guard has Governor's Day been held on a Sunday. Sunday has always been observed as a day of rest in the encampments of the Guard, the work on that day being confined to inspection of quarters and church services in the morning and parade in the evening. This new plan of having Governor's Day on Sunday means that the guardsmen will be called upon to give exhibition drills and demonstrations Sunday afternoon from 1 to 7:30 P. M.
Once in the history of the Guard the state attempted to move the troops to camp on a Sunday in order to have a full week for instruction at camp, but owing to the great opposition from churches and other organizations, the plan was abandoned and Sunday was again restored as a day of rest for the troops.
Up to the time of Governor Blaine's administration politics was unknown in the Wisconsin National Guard and whenever the position of adjutant general became vacant it was filled by the appointment of some leading officer in the Guard who had worked his way up by experience and service. However, when this position became vacant recently the governor appointed his political secretary to the position. This former secretary is now responsible for the plan to assemble a crowd at Camp Douglas tomorrow so that the governor may address them.

CHICAGO AND THE GULF WATERWAY
The talk given at Green Bay the other night by William R. Dawes, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, must have been a surprise to most of his hearers. Instead of discussing the St. Lawrence seaway project he devoted almost his entire time to a defense of Chicago's diversion of lake water. Considered from that standpoint it was a well constructed address and gave the opponents of Chicago something additional to think about. It is a good thing to hear the other point of view from a direct source.
Nevertheless, as an antidote for lake state hostility to Chicago's appropriation of water we question the efficacy of Mr. Dawes' talk. Mr. Dawes himself appears to be honest, sincere, capable. If he and those he represents of the commercial interests of Chicago could have their way, we have no doubt they would be willing to do the "right" thing. But they have little to say about the government of Chicago or of the sanitary district. Both of these municipal agencies are run by politicians who hold in contempt all interests either inside or outside the city of Chicago which come in collision with their selfish purposes.
The methods used by the sanitary district when the diversion issue was first raised were altogether indefensible. They were the tactics of unscrupulous politicians. The city of Chicago today is trying to evade conditions laid down by the secretary of war for a permit to continue temporarily the diversion of lake water. Immediate installation of meters was one of the conditions. It has been obstructed and so far defeated by the politicians. If there is any way by which Chicago can usurp this water for power, sanitary and other purposes, it will do so, and its concern for the shipping interests of the Great lakes will be nil. Thus far Chicago has shown no disposition to be considerate of the welfare of the lake states, except what has been imposed by the government at Washington.

Mr. Dawes grants that Chicago has been wasteful of lake water. He grants that it is diverting more water than it should. But at the same time he defends the use of lake water by Chicago for power purposes and sanitary purposes. In this position he is at odds with the lake states in their efforts to secure relief. A more plausible argument offered by Mr. Dawes is that in behalf of the lakes-to-the-gulf waterway. On the surface he is persuasive when dealing with this subject, but the lake states suspect that back of this movement, however sincere it may be on the part of business, Chicago, is a major purpose of continuing water diversion for purely local purposes.
The lake states are by no means convinced that the lakes-to-the-gulf waterway is of national importance or that it is a project that should be undertaken at this time. In comparison with the St. Lawrence waterway they consider it of wholly secondary importance. How much commerce such a waterway would handle is problematical. From the use made of the Mississippi river, the conclusion would seem to be justified that the traffic would be small.
The lowering of the lake levels is far more serious to the lake states than the necessity faced by Chicago of providing mechanical means of disposing of its sewage and of surrendering power development. Our receding shore lines are a mute but impressive picture of the injury lake navigation has suffered. In recent years the levels have declined in terms of feet, not inches. Every foot of lowered level means a thousand tons of reduced cargo on our boats. It means a loss to the shipping interests and lake ports of millions of dollars annually. These are hard facts, against which the selfish interests of Chicago can have little force. If Chicago had a fee-simple title to the lakes it might do with the water as it chooses, but it has not. They belong primarily to the lake states and Canada and secondarily to the entire nation. Before we attempt to build a lakes-to-the-gulf waterway we should have completion of the St. Lawrence waterway, coupled with physical proof that compensating works will be able to maintain lake levels while furnishing water for the sanitary district canal; otherwise the lakes-to-the-gulf waterway should never be authorized.
COOLIDGE TEST IN SENATORIAL RACE
The Republican conference at Oshkosh has decided that the contest for senator should be based entirely upon the support of the administration at Washington and the policy of President Coolidge. This is an eminently sound conclusion. Care should be exercised in not deviating from this policy. The Coolidge policies should be made the sole test, the sole issue.
If with this issue the Republicans go before the voters with one candidate for senator, they should win. The next duty is to agree upon one candidate and one only. Men who will not subscribe to an arrangement of this sort should be ruled out as candidates. There should be no disgruntled candidacies.
It is not in any sense a question of furthering the personal ambitions of office-seekers. The filling of the vacant senatorship is a matter entirely of public concern and it will not be filled as it should be unless men qualified for the senatorship place this consideration above all others, restrain their personal ambitions and acquiesce in the concentration of effort on a single candidate.

PHONE GOSSIP
Two minutes, three minutes, four minutes, five. That length of gossip keeps phone wires alive. What, that's important, can folks have to say, in the confabs that run for so long every day?
Phones play a part in all business, no doubt, but the gossip chats keep the business calls out. Sarah at noontime, gives Mary a ring, and they chat for an hour about any old thing.
Dad claims he's spent a great share of his life at phones while attempting to call up his wife. Nickels are dropped when his work time is slack. The busy call comes—and the nickels come back.
Wonder why people don't use common sense, and do all their gossiping over the fence. Most of the time the telephone rings, the gossip that flows doesn't mean a blamed thing.

DISGUISE
A medical woman, confessing that she is "one of those senseless women who have been addicted to powder and rouge for some years," declares she has never had a dermatitis and wonders whether there are any statistics to bear out the notion that the use of cosmetics is particularly injurious. She thinks the number of cases of skin disease caused by cosmetics must be very small compared with the great number of women who use them.
Let the general term "cosmetics" include not only the ordinary face powders, so called creams, rouges and lip sticks but also the hair dyes, alleged hair tonics, hair curlers, hair slickers (or shell salve), hair removers, sweat suppressors, deodorants, fake eye lash growers, humbug wrinkle removers, heroic complexion peelers, caustic freckle removers, and the thousand and one cosmetic nostrum which appeal to the dumbbell imagination, and we are constrained to tell the fair physician that even without a single statistic we just know the risks involved in the popular use of cosmetics are quite as bad as they are painted. Our medical sister—who, frankly enough, tells the world "the real reason we use face powder and rouge is to please you"—i. e., us married men, mainly. If that be true, all I gotta say will probably create less unpleasantness if left in my chest. But I will say this much with the editor's kind permission: Men over 12 years of age (mentally) seldom admire the type of beauty featured in the colored comic strip. Children should never be permitted to use cosmetics under any circumstances except for theatrical performances. A child is a person under 18 years of age.
Girls over 16 sometimes require the aid of cosmetics in the care of skin, hair or complexion, though nine times out of ten girls in their teens gain nothing from the use of cosmetics and at least one of every ten girls using them suffers actual injury to hair, skin or complexion, not to mention the occasional poisonous effect of some of these nostrums. The young skin, for instance, is usually copiously supplied with natural skin oil, and there for it is a mistake to add more oil or grease or fat in the shape of a "cream" of any kind. With many women the skin remains young, in this sense for half a lifetime. The old skin is comparatively dry and harsh and irritable and inclined to wrinkle such a skin requires more oil than nature provides, and the wise woman governs herself accordingly, in the choice of cosmetics. This is one of the fundamental applications of cosmetic hygiene, which subject I purpose to discuss in a series of talks to follow from time to time. Brains and beauty are often considered strangers, but that is just a superficial deduction arising, I fancy, from the not infrequent association of a mere doll like prettiness or cuteness with the morose mentality; this type of "beauty" is spurious and does not last more than a few short years. Real beauty and brains seem to be constant companions nowadays, worshippers at the shrine of the goddess Hygieia.
There is good sense and therefore good health in the dictum that it is a woman's duty to keep herself as attractive as possible. If this calls for the use of any kind of disguise, from hair dye to artificial hips, well and good, let her use 'em, but let her use 'em intelligently, which means with some commendable skill or art, the deception shall not be obvious to the casual observer. And that requires brains, as the casual observer will readily agree.

Poor Fish.
I am one of the poor fishes who listened to the advice of friends who told me how much younger I'd look if I had my hair bobbed. I acted on impulse and had it done, and my husband can't forgive me. My hair was formerly long and thick, but since I had it bobbed it seems to grow none at all, so poor and scrawny. Is there any hope that it will regain its former length? I am 32 years old. (Mrs. R. R. W.)
Answer—Well, you're young yet. But a great many young women have experienced similar disappointment. Cutting never improves the growth of the hair.

PAN AMERICAN PRESS INVITED TO WASHINGTON
Move for Harmony With United States Seen in Gathering of Publishers
BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.
Washington, D. C. — There have been Pan American commercial congresses, financial congresses, scientific congresses and public health congresses for the purpose of promoting a better understanding between the Americas. Now there is to be a Pan American congress of journalists. This was provided for at the Fifth Pan American conference which met in Santiago, Chile, in 1923. At that time the governing board of the Pan American Union was authorized to designate the date and place in the United States at which the congress should be assembled.
It has been decided that this congress shall convene on April 6, 1926 at Washington, D. C. One of the reasons for this date is that the annual newspaper publishers' convention is held in New York during April. It was felt that there would be more likelihood of a large representation from the west and middle west if the meeting could be arranged at a time when publishers from all over United States would be congregating in the east for this convention. It was feared that for one reason or another many publishers would not feel that they could make such a trip twice.
CEMENT FRIENDSHIP
In announcing the date Secretary of State Kellogg said he believed that such a congress of journalists would have a far-reaching influence in bringing about a closer acquaintance between the people of the American continents. He further stated that he believed that a resultant feature of such a congress would be that the journalists would be better able to interpret to their readers the common purposes and ideals of the nations of America.
Latin Americans are tremendously interested in the United States and have the greatest respect for many of its products. They are convinced that it manufactures the best motion pictures, the best typewriters and the best dental machinery. To this list they have now added American news services. There are at this time approximately a hundred newspapers in Latin America which subscribe to such services as the Associated Press and the United Press.
Up until the advent of the American cables, Latin America had only cable services with very high press rates. The newspapers of those countries therefore welcomed the American cables whose low press rates made it possible to purchase news services from the United States at reasonable cost. Most their news had come from Great Britain, France and Germany. These services were maintained only by those people who had cables.
MODEL NEWSPAPER OFFICES
Probably the most outstanding difference between the newspaper methods of the United States and those of Latin America is in the offices. In the latter the buildings are constructed as monuments to the profession—something which may be built to with pride. They are built to impress the people with their solidity in much the same manner as our banks are constructed. All bankers realize the psychological effect the building itself has upon their patrons. There is apt to be a lack of confidence in a bank housed in a cheap, flimsy way.
In Buenos Aires one of the largest newspapers has a building which is

Increase on Forest Reserves Is 44,000 Head—Total Is 687,000 Head Now
More than 687,000 head of big game animals make their home on Uncle Sam's 159 national forests, announces the forest service of the United States department of agriculture, which has just completed the compilation of a count made in 1924.
Compared with the previous year the 1924 figures represent an increase of about 44,000 head after due allowance is made for 44,300 head of bear which were not included in the estimates of former years but which are included in the 1924 estimates.
Forest service officials explain that this increase may be caused by the fact that 1924 was a very dry year in the west and that the drought conditions resulted in an unusual concentration of game animals around watering places which enabled the forest rangers to make closer estimates than in former years. It is also explained that only animals using national forest ranges are included in the estimates and that no account was taken of animals which graze almost entirely on adjacent federal lands or on privately-owned areas.
DEER SCORE FIRST
Deer represent the vast bulk of the big game animals with a total for 1924 of 550,500 compared with 511,200 last year. An analysis of the figures shows that except in a few national forests located in California deer show a uniform increase. These few exceptions, say forestry officials, may be the result of closer estimates rather than any real decrease in number.
The five states credited with the largest number of deer are, in the order of their rank, California, Oregon, Montana, Idaho, and Arizona. Alaska, also, is credited with about the same number—50,000 head—as the two named states. More than half the deer listed on the national forest in Arizona inhabit the Kaibab forest.
One of the show places. In this there is a club where out-of-town guests may stay during their visit. There is a restaurant and a hospital which is for the use of not only employees, but for anyone who may be injured or be taken ill in that vicinity. There is also an auditorium where any group of business men or others desiring to hold a meeting may gather.
The machinery in the press room is trimmed with the brightest nickel, and while it is probably actually no cleaner than the machinery of our newspaper offices, the visitor is dazzled by the glint of polished nickel. The pressmen instead of being in greasy trousers and E. V. D. undershirts wear neat uniforms. The reporters are not all squeezed into one room which reeks of stale tobacco and perspiration, and where the visitor wonders how they are ever able to concentrate sufficiently to turn in their copy. Each reporter is given a separate room where he may be quiet, and where careful attention has been given to just the proper light and ventilation. Perhaps the Latin American temperament requires more quiet for work.
While the office described may be more pretentious than many, it is said not to be unusual in the main. The publishers from the States may pick up quite a few ideas from a visit to one of these. They are already becoming imbued with the idea of making their offices show places, and it may be that before long large newspapers here may follow suit.

Matt Schmidt & Son
TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS TO WEAR

Efforts are now being made to reduce this Kaibab herd since the amount of forage available is insufficient to support it.
In the 1924 estimates bears were included as game rather than as predatory animals, the figures showing 44,300 head on the 159 national forests. Of this total 38,700 were of the black and brown varieties, the balance of 5,600 being grizzlies. Nearly all grizzlies listed were found on the two national forests in Alaska alone. Montana is the only state in which the forest rangers were able to find more than a scattering few of this bear.
ELK INCREASED
Elk have increased in all western forests, more than 52,600 head being listed for 1924 compared with 49,500 in 1923. On the Teton national forest bordering the Yellowstone National park the elk herd has shown a notable increase because of three excellent seasons with mild winters and satisfactory summers. Forest service officials are again facing the question of keeping this herd down to a number that can be supported by the available forage.
Antelope, or pronghorns, are still in a very unsatisfactory condition. The 1924 count shows only a few more than 5,000 of these animals, most of which are to be found in the national forests of Arizona and Idaho. In northwestern Nevada and southeastern Oregon there is a large antelope herd grazing on public lands outside national forest areas. An effort is being made to secure the creation of a game refuge which will cover the habitat of this herd so that it may be saved from extermination.
The number of moose found in 1924 shows a loss compared with 1923, only 5,100 head of these magnificent animals being shown last year compared with 3,000 in 1923. However, it is explained that this difference in figures may be attributed in large part to more accurate estimates. The number of mountain sheep and mountain goats in the national forests is given as 12,400 and 17,200, respectively, a slight increase over 1923. Buffaloes were dropped out of the 1924 estimates as those animals are now to be found only in protected herds.
In discussing the 1924 estimates of big game animals officials of the forest service say that the figures turned in were carefully checked and that the estimates are considered as accurate as such figures can be made where an actual count is not possible.
The Question Box
There is a reason for all things. This great universe is so constructed that there must be a reason or cause for everything that takes place. It is often difficult for the average person to find out the why of things. He knows that certain things are so, but he does not understand why they are so. This paper supports a free information bureau in Washington which will answer any question of fact you may wish to ask. Whenever you are in doubt about anything write to our Bureau. The hearty cooperation of its experts in answering your queries is assured. Enclose two cent stamps to cover the return postage. Address: The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.
Q. How much should a girl who expects to go to college four years allow for clothes? S. R. T.
A. A girl can dress attractively and appropriately on $250 a year if she has most of her dresses made at home if she shops carefully, buying coats and hats of the season, and if she saves deliberately. A fair allowance to the girl who must buy most of her clothes ready made is $450.
Q. Is there likely to be any change in the present immigration law? E. T.
A. A law providing for the admission of immigrants to the United States on a selective rather than the quota basis is to be urged upon Congress at the next session by the National Association of Manufacturers. They maintain that any plan of selective immigration has the advantage over the present plan; that the question of who is to be admitted would be answered at the home of the person seeking to come to the United States, and not at Ellis Island and other immigrant stations.
Q. Has the Dominican Republic a good system of roads? T. W.
A. A fairly adequate highway system supplies land communications there are about a thousand kilometers of roads, some macadamized and others paved with asphalt. Nevertheless for commercial purposes preference is usually given to water communication, carried on small national coasting vessels which render efficient and inexpensive service.
Q. How much dressed meat did the average American consume last year? T. G.
A. The Bureau of Animal Industry says that the average American consumed 184.4 pounds of dressed meat for the year 1924; of that per capita consumption, pork accounted for 88.2 pounds. Beef ranked next in favor with 62.6 pounds. Veal third with 5.3 pounds and mutton and lamb combined, were fourth with 5.3 pounds.
Q. What is meant by the term "SS" as used on affidavits and similar documents? W. M. B.
A. "Sillicet". It has the significance of "that is to say; to wit; namely." It is employed in the jurat of an affidavit, for example, to particularize the place of execution.
Q. When and where did "The Little Minister" open? G. R. S.
A. Maude Adams opened in this play "on an intolerably hot night", September 13, 1897, in the Lafayette Square Theatre, Washington. The receipts for the first week were only $3500, but the play was a spectacular success from the time it opened in New York.
Q. What purpose does the flat tail of the beaver serve? G. H.
A. In the water it serves as a rudder, proper and a signal gun by giving loud claps on the surface of the water as a warning of the approach of enemies.
Q. Where does Moira O'Neil, the poet, live? D. D.
A. She lives in Country Wezford, Ireland.
Q. When was the Welland Ship Canal started? M. B.
A. Construction was commenced in 1913. Of the $100,000,000 estimated total cost, over $5,000,000 has been used up to March 1925.

Gives Fares To Campers At Onaway

Transportation tickets are being distributed by Appleton Woman's club to girls who wish to be conveyed in busses to Onaway island on Friday, July 24. Two busses of girls will be taken up on Friday, one bus starting at 7 o'clock Friday morning and the second at 11 o'clock.

Children are urged to make their applications for tickets not later than Tuesday evening, so that all arrangements may be made ahead of time. Those campers who are planning to be driven up by their families or friends are asked to notify the club of the fact. Girls must arrive in camp before 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. The tickets which are being sold to the girls indicate in which bus the bearer or the ticket must travel.

A last meeting of the councilors has been called for 7 o'clock Wednesday evening, in the clubrooms, where the particular duties of each councilor will be discussed, and a final outline of the work will be made. Then the councilors will go to camp with the girls this year. Those who will be in charge are Miss Eleanor Hall, Mrs. Herbert Hackworth, Mrs. D. H. Wright, John Zussman, Rose Ryan, Ruth Ryan, Elizabeth Jones, Genevieve Jones, Louise Murphy, Mary Rogers, Isabelle Milhaupt, Josephine Patten and Florence Valentine.

Parents of campers are invited to be present at the meeting of campers councilors and families at 7:30 Tuesday evening. In the club rooms, camp activities will be outlined, and parents will have a good opportunity to meet the councilors and to form a definite idea of the aims of the leaders for the girls.

Pioneers Of County Hold Picnic Today

One of the features of the picnic given by the Outagamie Pioneer association Friday at Hortonville fair grounds is the old time music furnished by the Birmingham band. The picnic was to open with a dinner at noon. The program for the afternoon was made up of speeches by old settlers of Outagamie-co. who were to relate some of their early experiences, and particularly a talk by A. G. McComb of Oshkosh. Mr. McComb was a resident of Outagamie-co. for many years and now is a business man in Oshkosh.

The Outagamie Pioneer association has held its annual meeting in winter, but due to the fact that many of the older people were unable to attend on account of intense cold and snow, the committee in charge decided to hold a picnic that could be attended by anyone who was interested in the history of Outagamie-co. If the summer meeting is a success it is probable it will become an annual affair.

W. E. Smith is chairman of arrangements and is assisted by Joseph Kofend Jr. and Mrs. L. A. Carroll of Hortonville.

CLUB MEETINGS

The meeting of the Dodge club which was supposed to have been held Friday afternoon was postponed until July 24. It will meet with Mrs. Walter Piette, 425 E. Spring-st. at that time.

Ringling Circus Is Too Large For Street Parade

The elimination of the street parade is no longer an experiment with the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus. This is the big show's fifth year without a preliminary procession, and the innovation, the management declares, has proved a popular and successful one from every point of view.

A representative of the show, in speaking of the matter recently said: "The Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus is literally too big to give a parade, even if it were considered desirable or necessary. As a matter of fact, there is no general demand for the circus parade and every circus management in America would cut it out if it was not a necessary means of advertising their show and arousing interest in the performances."

"A parade is undoubtedly a good advertisement for a show that needs it. Ringling Bros. do not need it. Who ever heard of a great dramatic attraction giving a street parade? In the dramatic world parades are confined to repertoire shows, minstrel and Uncle Tom's Cabin aggregations. No circus can afford to be grouped in such a class."

"There are, of course, other reasons for eliminating the parade besides the belief that processions are no longer necessary for advertising purposes. If we could be absolutely sure of arriving in town by daybreak, day after day, it might be possible to give the parade simply as a free offering to the public; but with our four long trains of cars, this is too much to expect of the railroad companies. In many instances it is eight or nine o'clock before the last section arrives, and ten o'clock before it is unloaded and the paraphernalia transferred to the show grounds. This leaves just sufficient time to erect the big tents and prepare for the afternoon performance. To take several hundred men away from the show grounds at the most critical time in the morning, in order to give a parade, would mean delay in opening, and consequent discomfort to the public. To compel thousands of people to stand out in front of the entrance in the hot sun or rain, because the giving of the parade has delayed the opening for an hour or more, is positively cruel; but there is frequently no help for it when parades are given. By eliminating the parade the public is also saved a long often uncomfortable wait on the streets pending the always more or less delayed procession, which at best has nothing new to offer, to say nothing of the interference with public traffic and the business of the city's merchants. Many municipal governments have recognized the latter fact by either refusing to give licenses for parades or by making the tax so high as to be prohibitive."

"The elimination of the street parade means a very much better performance in every way. The horses and elephants, instead of being worn out by several hours marching through the streets, are rested, fresh and full of life and ginger; the performers, not being overworked, give their acts with a dash and 'go' that is refreshing, and even the animals in the menagerie, instead of being sleepy and indolent from their tour through the streets, are wide awake, and for this reason, doubly attractive."

The Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows traveling on 100 specially constructed railroad cars will exhibit here Wednesday, July 29.

TO LAY STEEL
FOR NEW BRIDGEDerricks Are Set Up to Swing
Heavy Steel Beams into Place

Kaukauna—Workmen have been busy the last few days preparing for the construction of the steel work of the new $50,000 draw bridge across the transportation canal. Huge derricks have been set up on each side of the canal and will be used to hoist the heavy beams into place.

Just when actual work on the final link of the bridge will be started cannot be determined. River navigation has been very light during the last week and unless the contractors take advantage of the close it is possible they will be required to build the draw section of the structure in such as to first thought necessary.

To erect the steel work will require about 10 days it was said. When that is finished the work of putting in the remainder of the concrete will be rushed to completion. Progress has been held up on the Fox river bridge also so that both bridges could be tackled at once.

Social Items

M'CLINTOCK WILL IS BARRED FROM PROBATE

Chicago—Basing his decision on a "presumption of undue influence," Probate Judge Horner Friday refused to admit the will of William Nelson McClintock to probate.

William Darling Shepherd, recently acquitted of charges of murder growing out of McClintock's sudden death last winter as he prepared to marry Miss Isabelle Pope, was the principal beneficiary under the will.

An estate in excess of one million dollars was involved. Miss Pope was granted an annuity of $5,000 under the testament but Friday through her attorneys, she joined forces with several cousins who opposed admitting the will to probate.

Two courses are still open to Shepherd. He may initiate a chancery proceeding to annul the will, or appeal to admit the will, or appeal to the first alternative, involve the possibility of a protracted hearing on the long relationship between Shepherd and McClintock.

WAUPACA SHOW
HOUSE LEASED
TO WINNINGERFormer Appleton and Waupun
Theater Manager Will Take Charge on Aug. 1

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—Joseph Winninger of Waupaca, has leased the Palace theater for one year effective Aug. 1. He will become manager in place of Otto Brown, who has resigned so he can devote his entire time to his business, the O. H. Brown Service, dealing in freight claims.

Mr. Winninger's lease is for one year with an option to buy. He formerly owned picture houses at Waupun and was the manager of Appleton theater at Appleton for several years. He intends to offer the public either high class pictures or a good road show every other night.

The new manager is a brother of John, Frank and Adolph Winninger of Wausau, who are so well known in theatrical circles as the Winninger brothers, a stock company. His theater at Appleton was used for the rehearsals of the players each season.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Winninger and family expect to move to the city within the next two weeks.

A deal was consummated Thursday whereby Mayor Felix Paronto sold his barber shop to John M. Baker, a former employee. Mr. Paronto has been in ill health for some time and will retire from active business for at least a while. He has made no plans at present other than to enjoy his vacation if his present condition will permit. Up to the recent controversy over the policy of the city in reference to an exchange of electric power, the mayor had but little criticism of his administration. Friends of the mayor are hopeful of his return to health so he may continue to fill his office until his term expires next spring.

EMBALMERS WANT DEPARTMENT AT WISCONSIN "U"

Brettschneider on Committee
Which Presents Recommendations to University
Officers

A state school of embalming probably will be established at Madison in connection with the state medical school not later than 1926 if the recommendation of the committee on the state school of embalming of the Wisconsin Funeral Directors association is carried out. The committee met this week in Madison with the State Examining board, Dr. Harper of the state board of health, and Dr. Sullivan of the state medical college, and recommended that a state embalming school be established. David Brettschneider, a member of the committee, attended the meeting in Madison.

An investigation was made by the committee of the embalming school at the University of Minnesota and of the Cincinnati School of Embal-ming. A twelve weeks course was recommended for the proposed Wisconsin embalming school. This course would include work in anatomy, bacteriology, autopsy, chemistry, public health, professional embalming and funeral management.
The state medical school, through Dr. Sullivan, promised to do all in its power to secure the establishment of such a course. Tuition for this course would be about $100. According to Dr.
Sullivan, the immediate equipment necessary for such a course, including a cold storage plant for preserving unembalmed bodies, would range from three to four thousand dollars.
The committee felt that this expenditure would be inadvisable until the medical department secured the construction of a new building.
The committee recommended that anyone seeking a diploma from the school of embalming be required to take a twelve weeks course in addition to a year of practical apprenticeship under a licensed embalmer with a minimum of 25 bodies to operate on.
The state medical school hopes to have a new building in the near future and will be glad to provide for embalming quarters when the building is constructed, it was said.

SHAKING WILL KEEP GROANING BRICKS QUIET

When pavements act like naughty boys and groan every time they have to do a little work, R. F. Hackworth, street commissioner, gives them a good shaking up. That treatment was administered Friday on W. College-ave at the Appleton-st intersection.

This portion of the brick pavement was complaining altogether too much.
There was a spot near the middle of the street where a groan was let out every time an automobile passed over it. When traffic was heavy there was a continual rasping murmur at the punishment the tires administered.
Many drivers were unaware that the bricks were spunky and thought their cars were in trouble.

Technically speaking, the groan was caused by hot weather expansion of the bricks. If the sand beneath settles slightly, the bricks usually nestle down with it. Expansion caused the bricks to hold so tightly, however, that they would go down under a load and come up again as though the surface was of rubber.

There were opinions that a caven might have occurred beneath so the street department barricaded the spot
Friday morning and tore up the bricks. The pavement was sound underneath, however, so the bricks were re-laid on a new filling of sand.

ASPHALT CONTRACTORS WILL BEGIN WORK SOON

Early activity on streets where asphalt paving is to be conducted is seen by Mayor John Goodland, Jr., in the arrival here Friday of William Milligan, a representative of Whyte
Construction Co. Mr. Milligan conferred with the mayor concerning the Appleton project and then began the preliminary preparations.

Some of the Whyte equipment will arrive here in a few days and Mr.
Milligan will take immediate steps to purchase the needed paving material. No definite date is set when the work will start its work, but it will take a week or ten days to complete the preparations.

This company devotes part of its time previous to paving to observations on the streets to be surfaced.
The extent of traffic is noted and the shade on the street or exposure of asphalt to sun are taken into consideration. Scientific methods are used all through its work.

SOUTHERN WISCONSIN CROPS IN GOOD SHAPE

Crops around Madison look much better than crops in this section according to O. P. Schlafer, who returned Friday from meetings of directors of two state hardware dealers insurance companies in the Capital city. Much grain has already been cut, especially within 30 to 40 miles north of Madison. The severe winds of the last few weeks did not seem to have affected them at all,
Mr. Schlafer said.

This picture is notable chiefly for its combination of novelties, and, the manner in which they have been coordinated to attain just one result, namely: to make people shriek with laughter. Nevertheless it has started a lot of serious discussion of the famous Darwinian theory, although this picture is frankly and exclusively a comedy in all the word implies.
For one of the first times in the history of the screen, the cast in a special production is headed by three animals—three chimpanzees, the famous Max, Moritz and Pep, already popular with legions of fans on account of their performances in Imperial comedies. It is claimed the intelligence displayed by these beasts of the jungle in portraying their respective roles in this picture is little short of remarkable.

So far as the human element in and Neil Brantley play the two hero roles while Dan Mason, Lon Poff,
Charles Conklin and David "Red"
Kirby appear in their support.

Elizabeth Cromwell, young New York society girl and member of the Junior League, the circumstances of whose tragic death at sea have not been entirely cleared. Radio messages from the steamship Veendam, on which she sailed for Europe, stated briefly that she had fallen overboard and was lost. Six years ago two cousins of the dead girl, Dorothea and Gladys Cromwell, leaped to death in mid-ocean from the liner Lorraine. There is nothing to indicate that Elizabeth Cromwell's death was not accidental.

CITY WILL TRY AT BUSY POINTS TRAFFIC PLATES

"Keep to Right" and "Stop—Arterial" Warnings Expected to Help Autoists

Small cast iron mushroom traffic guides are being installed at three busy street intersections as an experiment in the better regulation of driving. If these provide practical more will be installed. R. F. Hackworthy, city street commissioner announces.

These round plates are painted in bright amber so they are seen easily by drivers. Raised letters on each side bear the wording, "Keep to the right." The plates are bolted to the pavement and although they are plainly visible do not protrude from the pavement much over two inches. An automobile must with no mishap when hitting one, as there will be only a slight bump as a car passes over it.

Two of the guides are in place at the Appleton-st crossing on W. College-ave and two at the Walnut-st intersection. They are placed half-way between the sidewalks at the crossings on the north and south sides of the avenue. All cars must keep to the right of these and drivers are prevented from cutting corners and making turns that endanger traffic and pedestrians.

FOUR ON CORNER

Four more were installed at the corner of N. Morrison and E. Washington-sts. one of the dangerous intersections where there is a blind approach from all directions. Many cars pass at that point. One guide is placed at the center of each crosswalk to put a stop to sharp turns. It is necessary for automobiles to proceed slowly in order to keep to the right of these.

Another experiment that is expected to be of considerable help to the stranger is to be tried as soon as the Richmond and Cherry-st pavements are finished. Two more of these pavement plates have been bought but they are different in shape and purpose from the others. They resemble a wedge which is three inches at the thick end and tapers to a point. These will be placed in the center of the crosswalk where Cherry and Richmond-sts enter W. College-ave, with the thick end exposed to the autoist approaching the avenue. On the 3-inch facing which the motorist sees will be the wording "Stop—Arterial." The plates are of amber with black lettering.

SURE TO STOP

It is found that drivers entering a city for the first time are watching the roadway and the traffic more than they are the arterial signs. Some pass by the arterial unintentionally and occasionally a collision results. With both the big red sign and the pavement block to warn him, the autoist is expected to stop. More of these will be used at corners most often overlooked if the plan proves effective.

Practically every public building now has parking lines in front of its entrance. An area is marked where automobiles can drive up only to take on or discharge passengers. Large letters are painted on the pavement in conformity with the traffic ordinance adopted last year. The white lines designating car stalls on College-ave and those indicating safety zones and the proper place for pedestrians to cross the streets also have been repainted.

Missionaries Disagree On Chinese Movement

Missionaries widely disagree as to the significance of the so-called anti-foreign and anti-Christian movements in China, according to an interview given by the Rev. Edward James of Appleton in New York city recently. The Rev. Mr. James, who is a graduate of Lawrence college with the class of 1896, has been missionary of the Methodist Episcopal church in China for almost 30 years and is a close student of political and social movements there.

Some missionaries seem to tremble for the ark of God, while others are certain that these things will all turn out for the furtherance of the gospel. Mr. James stated in the interview, "It is hopeful to the extent that Christianity is now receiving more attention by the student and literary classes than ever before, he said. We believe that Christianity will stand investigation—whatever may be said of some of our versions of it and of some of the barnacles and accretions to it. "It is a great day in China. As proud an empire as ever existed is here undergoing the throes of regeneration. Be patient with us. Much that is going on, of course, strongly suggests early adolescence. The old recedes, the new advances. Inevitably there will be sound and foam. Let us get the historical viewpoint and be steady. We are not insisting that this or that type of organization shall be foisted and fixed here—not even that any particular type of doctrine shall dominate. But we are certain that the Christ of God is the Christ who is China's only hope."

POOR OFFICERS FIGHT PENSION

Old Age Pension Called Political Move and Legislative Mistake

Delegates to the annual convention of the Wisconsin Association of Poor Commissioners which closed Wednesday in Superior were unanimous in opposing the provisions of the new old age pension law, and pledged themselves to work with county boards of the state to prevent its operation. J. G. Pfeil, local poor commissioner, was unable to be present.

The action followed an attack on the law by Walter M. Joyce, Manitowoc poor commissioner, who declared it a serious legislative mistake. Copies of the law is optional and with each county and the poor commissioner are intended to work against its adoption. The law was scored time after time as a political move which would make parasites out of persons who should never become public charges. Judge W. E. Hally, speaking to the delegates, strongly attacked the law. He pointed out that the cost of benevolent and charitable by the counties is rapidly increasing from year to year out of all proportion to the increase of population. He cited examples in several counties to support his contentions.

70 SINGERS TO MERRILL FEST

Eagle Fife and Drum Corps Accompanies Maennerchor to saengerfest

More than 70 members of the Appleton Maennerchor, accompanied by the 20-piece fife and drum corps of the local aerie of Eagles, left at 7:15 Saturday morning for Merrill, where they will take part in the 2-day silver jubilee of the Eastern Wisconsin Saengerfest. The local warblers took a special train over the Ashland division of the Northwestern railroad. The special started from Sheboygan and picked up the Appleton and Manitowoc delegations. Two local groups were to take part in the program. The Appleton Maennerchor and the local Mixed Choir were on the program for Saturday afternoon and both were to sing in the group contests Sunday evening. Sunday afternoon the Eagle fife and drum corps will lead the Appleton, Sheboygan and Manitowoc group in the large parade, the feature of the closing day's program.

EMPLOYEES FIND WAY TO GET HALF-HOLIDAY

By coming to work earlier in the morning and shortening their noon hour, employees of the Appleton Street department have been enabled to take Saturday afternoons off during the summer months. This plan was worked out after the street crew had failed to secure permission from the city council to stop working Saturday afternoon. It was done on the suggestion of Robert M. Hackworthy, assistant street commissioner.

The employees have added a half hour to their working time every day by coming 15 minutes earlier in the morning and at noon. The total time added in six days is three hours, and consequently they still put in as many hours per week as though they were working Saturday afternoons.

Alan Hackworthy and George Purpee are visiting friends in Appleton. They arrived here on Friday from Madison, where they are attending summer school.

M'GOVERN HERE TO TALK OVER SENATE CONTEST

Former Governor of Wisconsin Enjoys Visit With Friends in Appleton

Former Gov. Francis E. McGovern, Republican candidate for United States senator to succeed the late Robert M. LaFollette, was in Appleton Saturday conferring with friends and supporters. He arrived here Friday evening after completing a tour of the lake cities and was making a swing through the Fox River valley on his return trip to his home in Milwaukee.

Mr. McGovern declared that never in his entire political experience has he received such a spontaneous reception. He was especially pleased to be in Appleton and to meet his old friends, because he lived here for three years while principal of the high school. He recalled many pleasant associations here.

Economy is the keynote of the program which Mr. McGovern has outlined for his senatorial campaign. He intends to adhere to the policy of thrift adopted by the national administration.

Briefly this is the platform he outlined to his Appleton friends: Restoration of the federal trade commission to its original purpose.

Opening of the proposed deep waterway from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic so that farm and factory products can reach the world markets cheaply.

Conservation of natural resources, including oil, water power, soil, mineral deposits and wild life.

Adequate national defense, especially in the air and submarine branches.

Unalterable opposition to the entry of the United States into the league of nations.

Support of any practical measure reasonably calculated to restore prosperity to the farmer.

Reformation of currency to make the unit of value more stable.

Honest and impartial enforcement of the existing liquor laws. Leaving to the people the full right to change them from time to time when they may see fit.

Mr. McGovern was born in Sheboygan, near the town of Rine, he worked on a farm and taught school. He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin and served two terms as district attorney of Milwaukee county, where he became known as the "indicting attorney." He was governor of Wisconsin for two terms. During the war he served as judge-advocate general, and it is said adopted a policy of reducing the penalties ordinarily imposed by the court-martial by half and in some cases by one-third of their length.

Since the war he served as general counsel for the United States Shipping board, and now is practicing law in Milwaukee.

EXPECT BIG CROWD AT CAMP ON GOVERNOR'S DAY

A number of Appleton people are expected to drive to Camp Douglas Sunday to witness the program arranged for Governor's Day by Ralph Immel, the adjutant general of the Wisconsin National guard. Thousands of people are expected to arrive at the camp early Sunday morning and special detachments of soldiers have been assigned the task of regulating the tremendous traffic.

A religious service will be held in the morning, after which drills and demonstrations will entertain the visitors until lunch time. Governor J. J. Blaine will talk in the afternoon.

As It Was in the Beginning!

In at least one place in the United States you can still see a part of the old West—as it was in the beginning.

One section of the old American wilderness, with its wild life, has been preserved, unspoiled by the roads of civilization. This spot is Yellowstone National Park which the Government maintains as a playground for the people.

One of the best things about Yellowstone is that while it is the wildest spot in America you may live and travel in it with all the comforts of home. You can see a wild bear and eat a full course dinner within the same hour. No discomfort or weariness mars the day's delights.

Yellowstone is an education without itself. You ought to know it. You can get a beautifully illustrated booklet describing it by writing to our Washington Information Bureau, enclosing only two cents in stamps for return postage. You will be entranced with reading about this wonder spot of America—unlike anything else in the world. Send in the coupon today if you want to make sure of your copy.

NEIGHBORS OF BAKERY CARRY PLEA TO COURT

Seek Writ Restraining Goettlicher from Building Addition to Bakeshop

Appealing from the decision of the city zoning appeal board, neighbors of Charles Goettlicher, owner of the Star bakery, 112 E. North-st, will present a petition in circuit court Thursday for an order restraining Goettlicher from building an addition to the bakeshop. The petitioners are Bertha Behling, Lilly Kunert, Harold Kunert, and Dr. Robert Mitchell. An order to show cause why a temporary injunction should not be granted preventing Goettlicher from starting building operations will be acted on Thursday.

Two weeks ago Goettlicher obtained a permit to build an addition to his bakeshop. Twenty-four property owners residing in the vicinity of the Star bakery voiced a protest at a meeting of the zoning board on July 9, claiming that any addition to the bakery would be a violation of the zoning ordinance, and that the bakery was already a nuisance in the neighborhood. Residents of E. North-st and vicinity went so far as to offer to form a company and buy the bakeshop, or furnish money to buy a bakery for Mr. Goettlicher in the business district.

DIDN'T SEE NOTICE

The zoning board of appeals decided at a meeting on July 13, that Goettlicher's building permit could not be revoked. This action was taken unanimously after the board was informed by A. C. Bosser, city attorney, that it had no notice to annul a permit where proper notice had been given, a hearing held and the permit granted according to law. There were no objections at the first hearing, property owners claiming they did not see the published notices.

Goettlicher planned to go ahead with building operations immediately after receiving the decision of the zoning board of appeals, but has been instructed by his attorneys to wait until Thursday when the order for a temporary restraining injunction will be heard in circuit court.

Miss Marie Wenneman of Schlafer Hardware Co. left Saturday morning for a two weeks' vacation at Merrill, Port Washington and Tigerton.

Grocer, Baker, Hardware Man Help Picnics Lovers

I'd like to go on a picnic next Sunday if it wasn't such an awful lot of bother to get ready and if I didn't have to sit on the ground to eat," Friend Wife suggested to Friend Husband one night. That's the trouble with picnics—most of them anyhow—too much trouble to get ready. Instead of making housekeeping easier for wife and mother, the picnic only adds to her burdens—unless she knows something about picnic aids and where to get them.

The grocer, the butcher, the novelty store and the hardware dealer have dozens of first aids for picnickers that don't cost a great deal and make a picnic what it ought to be—a thing of joy forever. For instance, you can buy a refrigerator basket, with compartments for ice and picnic foods that such an awful lot of bother to get ready and if I didn't have to sit on the ground to eat."

Sometimes mother doesn't enjoy the picnic, because she thinks that when she gets home she'll have to wash the dishes. The picnic package makes this feeling unnecessary. It contains, paper dishes which can be "chucked" away after using.

PREPARED SALADS
Sister Mary would enjoy fruit salad but it really takes so much time to make it. But the grocer has a prepared salad made from all the different fruits put up in a can. It contains enough to serve from 8 to 10 persons. And then what would a picnic be without olives and pickles?

When Mother says: "Let's go somewhere for a picnic," she wants to get away from the household duties and she dislikes to "fuss" and cook the day before. The grocer and butcher have many new suggestions for the picnic lunch that will relieve her of all unnecessary work. A very nice spread for the sandwich is a picnic spread in glasses. Why not take a knife along and make them at the picnic place? Canned chicken or chopped meat in glasses or cans are other aids in making sandwiches.

GET "CANNED HEAT"

Dad says he must have coffee. So mother buys a little can of "canned heat" and some of that new delicious "instant coffee" to which only boiling water is added. The "canned heat" does the work of boiling the water, so Dad has his coffee and there really is no extra work connected with the making of it. A very new kind of drink is the "seven fruits" drink. It is made from the combination of juices of seven fruits blended together for their delicious flavors and contains, cherries, raspberries, strawberries, pineapple, lemon and orange.

Sometimes mother doesn't enjoy the picnic, because she thinks that when she gets home she'll have to wash the dishes. The picnic package makes this feeling unnecessary. It contains, paper dishes which can be "chucked" away after using.

A new kind of olive comes pitted, all ready to be stuffed with nuts. Then the watermelon, canned beans and fruit is always easy to take along. When the family goes on its camping trip this summer, it ought to have one of those new camp stores, which provides all the conveniences, cleanliness and comfort of the kitchen gas range. Besides being used for cooking foods, it is unexcelled for heating the tent in damp weather. An best of all, it can be folded up and be carried like a suit case, with everything inside.

TWO OLD WISCONSIN COLLEGES ALTER PLANS

Two historic Wisconsin colleges have made radical changes in their organization during the past few months, and will open in September, operating under the new plan. St. Mary's Academy in Prairie du Chien, Indiana, which has been a combination high school and college ever since it was founded has found it necessary to abolish the high school course because of the tremendous growth of the enrollment. The institution is in the hands of the Notre Dame sisters.

Campion college which is not far away from St. Mary's in Prairie du Chien, but which has not been under the same management is dropping its college course because of the large enrollment. The Jesuits are managers of this college.

ORDER 650,000 AUTO PLATES FOR NEXT YEAR

Madison.—An order for 650,000 automobile license plates for the year 1926 has been placed with the state prison plant at Waupun, by Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman.

The colors of the 1926 plate will be black numerals on a cream background.

Normal demand for automobile plates is about 600,000 annually, Mr. Zimmerman states, but the increased number ordered for 1926 is looking ahead toward an increase in registration during the ensuing year.

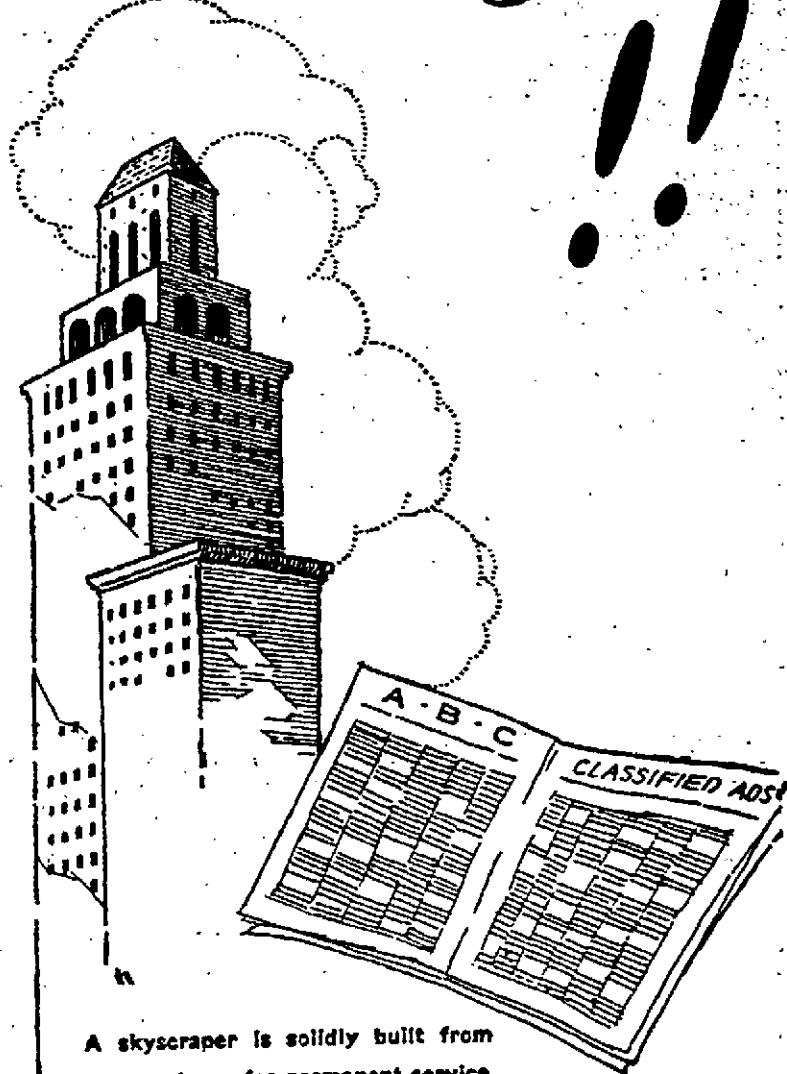

During the first half of the year 1925, there were registered 641,927 automobiles, records in the office show. Of these 477,812 were for automobiles, 58,534 were for trucks, 2,886 for motor vehicles and 2,635 for dealers' cars.

The estimate of Mr. Zimmerman is that the total number of 1925 motor vehicle registrations will reach 606,900, a record year.

Menasha—The painting of the Tuchscherer block at the corner of Main and Mill-st reveals the fact it was the first brick building in Menasha and was erected more than 75 years ago by Jacob Stip, who originally used it for the making of boots and shoes. The brick was manufactured by Thomas McFadden, who at that time operated a yard on Tayco-st where Joseph Sauter's residence now stands. Mr. McFadden was the owner also at that time of a salubrit which during the summer months made daily trips to Clifton for rock, sand and gravel.

In order to accommodate his increasing business Mr. Stip erected an addition a few years later. He used the entire building for a time but as manufactured boots and shoes came into use he confined himself to one portion of it. After he discontinued his business the building was occupied by the post office for several years and then as a feed store and grocery store. H. J. Tuchscherer, Sr., who has been engaged in the shoe business for more than 40 years, rented the building for the first ten years and then purchased it.

TELLS MUTE STORY OF ARCTIC TRAGEDY

A broken sled, a pile of human bones, scattered heaps of broken tin cans and bottles—these told the story of the ill-fated "third group" of the Stefansson expedition which wandered away when the "Karluk" jammed in the ice during the 1914 exploration trip. The place and nature of their end was revealed not long ago by a party headed by H. A. Snow, former African hunter who has just arrived in New York bringing the first pictures. It will be recalled that Stefansson and one party reached the mainland, and that the other split into two groups, one of which "broke through" and other swallowed up by the white silence.

Pretty But Dumb Girls Are Envid

BY CYNTHIA GREY

A woman, who has won such fame as an artist, was talking to me about her baby girl, now less than a year old.

"I hope," said this woman who is acknowledged by the world to be one of its most brilliant ones, "that my daughter is beautiful but dumb. If I ever catch her showing any tendency toward developing a brain, I'll send her some place where she will get over it before it proves to be her ruin."

This woman is one of the most envied of her sex. She has had triumphs beyond what most of us even aspire to gain. She undoubtedly possesses a six-cylinder brain. But she has never been a "knockout" with men. And she really believes it is on account of her brains.

She has told me repeatedly she would give up everything she has accomplished if she could just be a glorious, perfect blonde. Down in her soul she really yearns to be a Circe or a Cleopatra. And she believes that beauty is the main essential for such a career.

But it doesn't follow that every beautiful woman wants to be a man killer. If you have a face that makes men swarm about you like flies around molasses, it is probable that a conquest more or less isn't going to be any great thrill in your life.

The woman who is as beautiful as a goddess, but has no talents, would probably believe that the woman who could paint a great picture or do some creative work had very much greater gifts from Providence than she.

We all prize the thing we don't have. We underestimate the struggle and overestimate the triumphs of those around us, because we never know whether other people are getting what they want or what we want.

The beautiful woman undoubtedly attracts men. But that doesn't mean she attracts the one who will make her happy or that with dozens to select from she is any more apt to draw a matrimonial prize than the woman with only thirty. A quart of water is just as good as a well full. You can only drink so much and when you have satisfied your thirst, it doesn't add to your satisfaction to know that there is a large quantity around that you can't use.

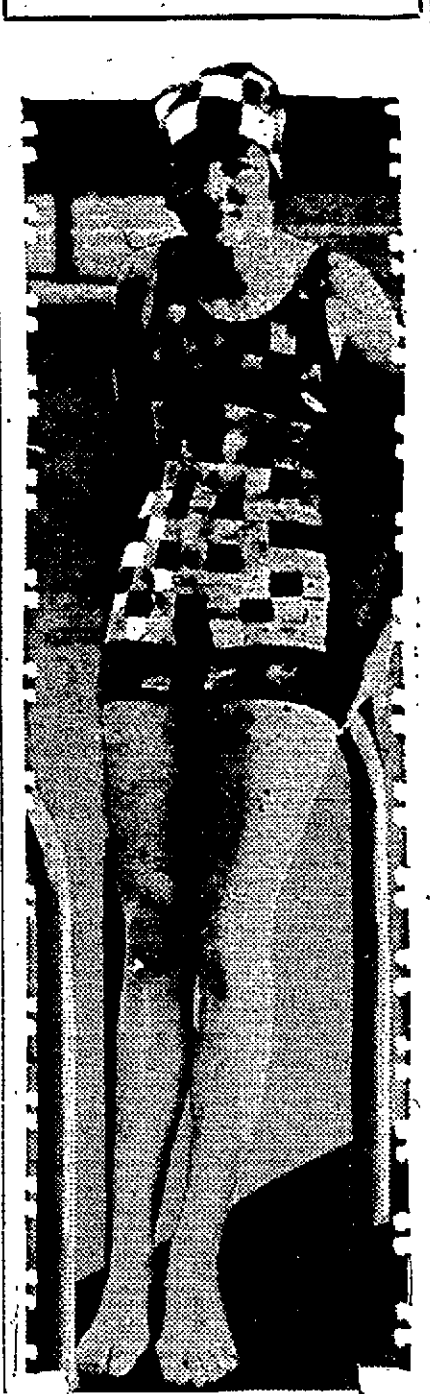

You may be surrounded by all the suitors in the world, but after all you need only one who really loves you to make you happy, and there is no value in quantity if you haven't the one who is really for you.

The woman who is what we call commonplace, has just as much chance for romance and happiness as the woman who is superlatively beautiful or superlatively clever. She probably gets more all-around happiness out of life by keeping to the even tenor of things instead of hitting the high spots.

It isn't just beauty or just brains or just money or any particular quality that makes you happy or successful. Nothing could bring less happiness than the combination of beauty and dumbness, even if it were possible to have beauty without some intelligence.

All we can do is just take the talents we have and do the best we can with them. The test of success is not whether you get what the world prizes, but whether you get what you actually want. And we only judge our own achievements. We don't know about the other fellow.

Adventures Of The Twins

THE SNUFF BOX IS RETURNED

"Aha!" said Mister Whizz as he looked at the cuckoo clock in the Clock Maker's shop.

"I think I know something. That was no cuckoo that chirped just now. Mister Clock Maker, have you a stepladder? I think I know where all those sneezes came from that spoiled your clocks. Or rather, where the sneezes came from that caused the sneezes."

"Yes, here is a stepladder," said the Clock Maker obligingly. "I always keep one handy so I can fix grandfather clocks when they get out of order."

Mister Whizz put the stepladder against the wall where the cuckoo clock hung, and then went carefully up step by step.

When he got to the top, he reached up and took the clock off the nail by which it was hanging, keeping his hand over the door so it couldn't be opened.

"Now I've got him!" he cried. "I've got the bad little goblin whom we have been chasing for days and days."

"Who?" cried the Clock Maker in surprise.

"Snitcher Snatch," answered Mister Whizz. "He stole the magic snuff box that belongs to the Fairy Queen's uncle, and he's done more harm with it than a box of matches in a gun powder factory. We've chased him over half the earth."

"Let me out! Let me out!" squeaked the goblin's voice inside the clock.

"If you don't, I'll take a pinch of snuff myself and blow the clock all to pieces."

"My! My! I hope he won't do that," exclaimed the Clock Maker. "It belongs to one of my best customers."

"I'll let you out," said Mister Whizz. "If you give me the snuff box."

"All right," said the goblin. "I promise. I'm tired of it anyway. I've had all the fun I want out of it. Besides I want to go to the moon and this old snuff box is too heavy to carry so far."

"Hand out the box first, then I'll let you out," said Mister Whizz, taking his hand off the clock door so it could be opened.

Snitcher Snatch kept his word. He handed out the snuff box and Mister Whizz stuck it in his coat pocket.

"The coast is clear," asked the goblin next, sticking out his head.

Without waiting for an answer, he sprang to the counter, then to the floor, and before you could say "Jack Robinson" he was gone.

"Thank you for helping us," said Mister Whizz to the clock maker.

"I hope you will get your clocks together again in less than seventy years. I'll tell the Fairy Queen when I go back and perhaps she can send you some help. Come, children. We must hunt up our aeroplane and be off."

So the Twins and the little aviator got into the aeroplane and flew back

Breakfast—Baked rhubarb, cereal, thin cream, poached eggs on graham toast, milk, coffee.

Dinner—Stuffed baked haddock, creamed potatoes, boiled cauliflower, fruit salad, graham bread, Roquefort cheese and toasted crackers, milk, coffee.

With the possible exception of the cheese and crackers suggested for dinner, there are no dishes on the menus unsuitable for four-year-olds.

The potato and herring pie is not essentially a "nursery" dish but there is nothing in it to harm healthy children under school age. Use discrimination in the serving of the pie for them, omitting the crust and they will have a nourishing, easily digested luncheon.

BAKED RHUBARB

Twelve prunes, 1 cup boiling water, 3/4 cup sugar, 2 1/2 cups rhubarb cut in half-inch lengths.

Wash prunes and let stand in water to cover for 1 hour. Remove stones, and cut fruit into small pieces. Wash rhubarb and cut in small pieces. Put rhubarb, sugar and water into a covered baking dish and bake until rhubarb is pink and soft. When half cooked stir in sugar. LETTER FROM KARI, WHITNEY TO MRS. JOSEPH GRAVES, HAMILTON

Dear Mother: For a long time I have been waiting to write you this letter. I could not write it while Leslie's health was precarious. It would seem too selfish.

Now that her new boy has made his appearance in the household and she is regaining her health, I want to ask you, mother mine, if you will not come over here and travel with me for a while. You know, dear, that you are the only mother I have ever known. You know that ever since I was a little boy I have come to you for sympathy and comfort and I have always gotten it.

Now that I am completely alone and Leslie has her husband and two children to fill her life, don't you think that you can devote a little time to me?

I need you, need you perhaps more than you realize, dear mother. You know I am a queer, solitary sort of a man. I don't make friends easily and yet no one would like friends more than I. I confess I am selfish enough to hope that you, with your sweetness and understanding, will make friends for me.

As it is, I wonder about these Old World cities and I wonder what I am living for anyway. I only see the sadness and the futility that is always present in the gayest crowds which I sometimes frequent in the hotels and restaurants. The glorious paintings and the art of yesterday make me feel that those artists who lived and loved and wrote out their lives in great music, great paintings or great poetry were, after all, only shadows of their dreams.

I think if you would come over I would be happier. If I am not, I am afraid, dear mother, that unless you are as much interested in me as I think you are I can not make you happy.

You should get away from all your old life and griefs. We have been through most of them together and I think we should have each other to forget.

Come on over, mother dear. You may make all the plans and it will be my very great joy to carry them out.

John cabled me of the birth of the boy and I sent him a little present, as you probably know.

I sometimes wonder what would have been my life if I had had a boy to work for—a boy who would carry on my name.

John wanted to call that baby Sydney Karl, but I wrote him I wished he would not; that my name was that of too unhappy a man to hitch it to an unsuspecting child without its knowledge and consent.

I will await your reply with the greatest impatience, mother dear. Will you cable it to me? Tell Leslie my need of you is greater than hers.

Tell her anything that will make her advise you to come to your loving son, KARI.

Princess lines, semi-fitted effects, and marked flare in skirts stand out as the distinctive features of the Paris dressmakers' advanced fall openings.

Black fulness is the new note which, to greater or less extent, is emphasized by all the leading houses.

Ensembles still take precedence dresses in the same fabric as the coat rather than in contrasting color or weave.

Skirts remain short, and sleeves in all tailored dresses are long and tight.

Fur trimmings are extensively employed. Practically all coats have over suits, and are featured with fur hems, or fur applied in broken bands at the bottom across either the back or the side.

Household Hints

HANG UP UTENSILS

Keep as many of your kitchen utensils hung up as possible so that you do not have to look through drawers or on shelves to find what you want.

FOR PRESERVES

The addition of a half teaspoon of glycerine to a pint of grape jelly or preserves just before the fruit is poured into the jars will prevent the formation of acid crystals.

JUST IN TIME

If a custard cooks one moment too long, it will curdle, hence it is safer to the very spot from which they had started.

There was the big stone in the roadway with their own shoes hidden behind it, just as they had left them.

"I'll let you out here and then I'll go on to the Fairy Queen's Palace," said Mister Whizz. "Why, hello! There's a note on the big stone. It's for you. Read it."

Nancy opened it and read: "Dear Twins: Come to my palace at once, as soon as you return. I have another adventure for you. My uncle says to tell you he's much obliged for getting the snuff box back. You have worked very hard. Yours lovingly, The Fairy Queen."

The Secret of Success Depends on Health

It is a fact that only about one person out of three enjoys good health. That occasional headache; that tired, exhausted feeling, loss of appetite, the casual cold—all these are danger signals you should heed. Nature is warning you of impending sickness. Seemingly trivial symptoms tell of serious troubles taking root in your body. And yet, ninety-nine people out of every hundred will absolutely ignore these danger signals. As long as they are not flat on their backs, they will fool themselves into believing that they are all right. I want to talk to you. The fact that you have been treated elsewhere without benefit does not discourage me in the least; I am helping men and women every day, affecting cures, many times in cases pronounced incurable by others, so that I feel sure I can do much for you. My counsel will cost you nothing, but my charges for treatment will be reasonable and not more than you will be willing to pay for the benefits conferred.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton © 1925 NEA SERVICE INC.

"Of course, I don't really need a hat . . .," Glory thought, as she drifted into the millinery department. But down in the bottom of her mind she knew that she was going to buy one.

"I'd like a dress hat . . . something with plumes, I think," she said to the white-haired woman who came forward to serve her.

The saleswoman shook her marcelled head.

"No plumes," she said smiling. "For so young a face, I think. We must keep you very simple. . . . Won't you have this chair, please?" She slid away.

Glory watched her opening and shutting drawers and cupboards. In a few minutes she came back with a wide-brimmed hat of creamy satin.

"Here's madam's hat," the milliner said, setting it on Glory's red gold head. "Simple but smart."

The saleswoman was right: It was Glory's hat. She smiled.

"How much is it?" Glory asked. "Fifty-five dollars," the milliner answered in the tone she might have used in saying "two for a nickel."

Fifty-five dollars! Glory wondered what Dick would say if she paid that much for a hat that hadn't a scrap of trimming on it.

In the end she took it—charged it to Dick.

Next Glory bought the beaded bag she had seen in the show-window. It was $30.

"Charge it and send it," she said. She gave her name and address with a feeling of excitement. She had never owned a charge account before in her life.

They were like wishing rings, these charge accounts. You simply ordered what you wanted . . . murmured "Charge it" . . . and it was yours!

On her way out of the store Glory stopped at the toilet-goods counter. Idly she picked up lipsticks and eyebrow pencils in their silver holders. She needed neither.

Her lips were a natural scarlet. And the black lashes, planted thick around her eyes, gave her a "made-up" look, as it was.

Still, she could always use face cream and scent.

"I want some perfume," she said to the pretty clerk who came to wait upon her. "Not rose or violet. Something spicy and oriental."

Finally she bought two kinds . . . mimosa and lotus-flower.

After that she bought nail polish, night-cream, bath-powder, and a large wooden bowl of elder-flower soap that would float in the bathtub.

"Twenty-two dollars," said the saleswoman, adding up the cost of these luxuries.

"Charge it," Glory said. The noontime whistles were blowing when Glory left the store. The street was filled with business girls on their way to lunch, their faces gay and fresh as flowers.

And to think that only a few weeks ago she had been one of them! Why, it had taken her months to earn as much money as she had spent that morning in a few clothes!

How long would it take Dick to earn that $400?

Glory knew that he wasn't half as rich as she had once supposed he was.

Suddenly she was frightened at what she had done. She made up her mind to telephone the store to say that she didn't want the things she had just bought. . . . No, by Jinks, she did want them! And Dick would just have to pay for them, by some hook or crook!

Glory hurried home and waited for her purchases to be delivered. Late in the afternoon they came. She rushed to her room and tried on the three new dresses . . . one after the other, quickly, before Dick should come home.

Ah, they were lovely! And she was lovely in them. . . . She tried to see herself with Stan Wayburn's eyes as she turned and twisted before the mirror.

Glory leaned across the dressing table and smiled at her dazzling self in the glass.

"You darling!" she said. Then she heard the sound of Dick's latchkey in the door down stairs!

And before she had had time to take off the new blue dress she was trying on, Dick was in the doorway. "So here you are . . ." he began and stopped.

His eyes swept the room, from the dresses slung over the foot of his wife's bed to the wrapping paper that littered the rug.

Then he looked at Glory with a question in his eyes. She was speechless.

"Well, what have you been doing, buying out the town?" he asked. Glory smiled. "Hardly that, dear-est," she said. "Just a dress or two."

She came toward him swaying like a model in a style-show. Her lips were pursed up for a kiss.

Kissums sticky mout," she said bashfully.

Dick kissed her with the utmost gravity.

"Where did you get all these clothes?" he asked.

"From my generous husband. . . . I charged them to you," Glory answered. "Now don't be cross, please. I really needed a few things."

Dick frowned.

"But you just bought a new dress last week for your party," he said. "What's the matter with it?"

"Oh, that thing!" Glory answered, her lips curling. "My old dress maker made it. . . . It had no style."

"I thought it was beautiful," Dick said helplessly.

Downstairs Ranghild was striking the Chinese dinner gong.

"You know, Dick," Glory said after dinner as they sat before the wood fire in the living-room, "a woman needs more clothes than a man goes."

Dick lowered his newspaper and looked at her.

"How much did you spend today?" he asked.

"Only a little bit over four hundred dollars," Glory said.

"But wait until you see all the lovely bargains I picked up!" she cried before he had time to answer.

She ran upstairs and dresser herself in the new black velvet dress. Then she put on the cream-colored hat, and dabbed mimosa perfume behind her ears and under her chin.

"Don't I look like a million dollars?" she asked excitedly when she came down, again.

"You sure do," Dick admitted. "But I want to show you something."

OLD MASTERS' MUSIC WILL MARK FESTIVAL

Haslemere, Eng.—A festival of the chamber music of the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth centuries is being arranged for August at Haslemere, where instruments will be used representing those of olden times. The festival is to be staged by Arnold Dolmetsch, who with other members of his family and pupils will play numerous rare instruments virtually unknown to the average music lovers of today.

The lute, the recorder, the viol, the virginal, the viola d'amore, the harp sichord, the clavichord, referred to by Rossetti as the "seven sweet symphonies," will be used in rendering the music of the old masters. English music of "the golden period" (the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries) will have a prominent place on the festival program.

Athletics Gain Full Game On Senators As Champions Lose, 6 To 3

Rube Benton, Cincinnati Veteran, Shuts Out Brooklyn, 4 to 0, at Ebbets Field

New York—Pitchers of the past, stirred by the sensational race in the major baseball leagues, attained exceptional form in the battles of Friday.

Babe Adams, hero of Pittsburgh's world series conquest in 1909 ventured out to the hill in the ninth inning at Boston and held the Braves hitless while his first mate routed the enemy after being two runs behind. The 7 to 3 victory brought Pittsburgh to the top of the standing once again, as the New York Giants, occupants of the top rung for a day, fell before the Cardinals and "Duster" Mails at the Polo Grounds, 6 to 1.

Meanwhile it was Veterans day in the American league as well, old Jack Quinn, Yankee and Red Sox discard allowing three safeties in the second inning at Philadelphia and giving the Athletics a gain of one full game over the champion Senators, who lost to George Daus at Detroit.

All told, Chicago gathered four hits from the offerings of the Philadelphia moundmen and dropped the battle, 8 to 1. Daus' margin over the Senators was 6 to 3. Zachary and Marberry proving the victims.

The White Sox defeat permitted Vangilder and Davis to pitch George Sisk's Browns into third place in the American league, 9 to 3, while Waite Hoyt became his old self and gave the struggling Yankees a victory over Cleveland, 5 to 1.

Rube Benton of Cincinnati, another of the old timers, shut out Brooklyn at Ebbets field, 4 to 0. Maranville's Cubs became vicious and downed the struggling Phillies, 7 to 5.

EXPECT BIG ENTRY AT SUNDAY SHOOT

Marksmen Plan to Take Advantage of Event to Practice for Big Meet

Preparations were being made Saturday to accommodate a large entry list at the shooting park on the Lake road Sunday when the Appleton Angling and Shooting club will hold a registered shoot composed of seven events. Originally this shoot had been scheduled for July 25, but it was postponed because the sixth annual Great Lakes zone tournament to be held under the auspices of the Milwaukee Gun club comes on July 23, 24, 25, and 26, and probably a large number of marksmen from here will attend that meet.

A large entry was expected here Sunday in preparation for the Milwaukee meet, and because of the growing popularity of trapshooting in this vicinity. Six singles and one double event are scheduled, with high grade pocket knives as prizes for high gun in each event. In addition the entry money will be divided on the percentage basis as usual.

KEARNS IS RILED AT GETTING GO-BY

Former Manager of Champ Dempsey Threatens to Throw Wrench in Works

Los Angeles, Calif.—Jack Dempsey's reported intention of making Jack Kearns his manager-emeritus does not sit well with the man who helped hoist him onto the heavyweight throne, and Kearns doesn't mind admitting it.

Commenting Thursday night on the champion's announcement that he would henceforth handle his own boxing business, Kearns stuck out his jaw and said: "Fifty per cent of Jack Dempsey's heavyweight championship title is mine, and as long as our contract endures, he will make no matches without by O. K." Kearns expressed no gratitude for Dempsey's intention to see that he gets his percentage from all bouts up until the expiration of their present contract in September 1926.

"Of course I'll get my cut," he declared. "Dempsey knows I'm entitled to that cut and that I'll get it whether he sees it or not."

Complaining that the champion had never notified him, "man to man" that he wanted to terminate their contract, Kearns uttered this warning: "If he thinks he can give me the run-around by signing for a couple of push-over matches until after our contract expires, I may throw a monkey wrench into his plans."

By virtue of a double victory over the Meyer Press Friday afternoon at Jones park the Triangles Saturday are entrenched in second place more firmly than ever with the Bankers a full game behind. The Y. M. C. A. took the first game of the double, 6 to 2, and the second, 13 to 4. As another result, the Chair Co. has been boosted out of the cellar and replaced by the Meyer Press.

The first game Friday was close and exciting. Colvin pitched good ball for the Pressmen, but his support was not up to snuff, and Beyer won the duel. In the second game a flock of errors kept Colvin in hot water most of the time and gave the Triangles an easy victory. Each game went through five innings.

APPLETON WILL PLAY FOND DU LAC SUNDAY

Appleton invades Fond du Lac Sunday afternoon in the Eastern Wisconsin circuit and is planning to jump over Chilton into third place. Last week the Bactzmen nosed out a 7 to 6 win over Campbellsport, while Fond du Lac bowed to Chilton, 15 to 14. Fond du Lac is entrenched in second place immediately behind Plymouth, and will put up a strong fight to stay there. The Cardinals also have a chance to get back into a tie for first place.

NEW STAR RISING IN WEST

JIMMY McLARNIN
Jimmy McLarnin of San Francisco jumped to national prominence recently when he treated the late Pancho Villa, king of the flyweights, to a fine lesson in boxing on the Pacific coast. His showing in that battle makes him look like a likely prospect for the title.

CARTER, MARTIN MEET IN FINALS

Oklahoma City and Chicago Aces Survive Semifinals in Hard Races

Detroit, Mich.—Either Keefe Carter of Oklahoma City or Russell Martin of Chicago will be western amateur golf champion for 1925, and which one it shall be was to be decided Saturday in the thirty-six hole final round at Lochmoor club, where Carter Friday defeated Fred Lampercht of Cleveland, intercollegiate champion, 1 up, and Martin eliminated Clarence Hubby of Temple, Texas, 2 and 1.

The semi-finals Friday provided good contests both being even most of the time. Hubby's lead of 4 up during the second nine was the largest margin all day. The biggest lead in the other match was Carter's 3 up at the thirty-third hole.

Martin was 3 down at the half-way mark, having taken 79 strokes for the first eighteen, but he gradually overcame the Texan's lead as his drives recovered from a suburban spell, squared the match at the twenty-ninth hole and three more times before he could finally get a lead at the thirty-second, by winning the thirty-third and halving the next two, he clinched the victory. As Martin's driver had failed him in the morning, so did Hubby's desert him in the afternoon.

In the first round Hubby outdrove Martin from 20 to 70 yards and the Chicagoan evened a few, but in the afternoon Hubby was wild off the tee, while Martin recovered. Hubby scored approximately 76 in the first round to Martin's 79, but in the afternoon he was 12 above par for the seventeen holes played, while Martin was 6 over.

INJURY TO WANGEMAN CRIPPLES PLYMOUTH

Sheboygan—Fred (Windy) Wangeman who has been playing third base for the Plymouth team of the Eastern Wisconsin Baseball league this season, will be unable to play ball for the next five or six weeks because of an injury received in last Sunday's game with Oshkosh.

While Wangemann was up to bat in the seventh inning, Bruce Noel made a wild pitch, hitting the Hub player in the leg just above the ankle, snapping a small bone in the leg.

Windy's absence will be felt, because he was one of the leading batter and fielders of the Plymouth team.

The Hubs will have a tough battle next Sunday when the Campbellsport Belles play at Plymouth. While Campbellsport has not forged toward the front in the games played thus far, the team from that city has a fighting reputation, as well as the respect of all the others in the league.

The number of persons employed in the ice cream industry in the United States is now 20,000, or double the number ten years ago.

MANDELL BEATS SOLLY BY SHADE

Rockford Title Aspirant Has Trouble With Fast New York Lad

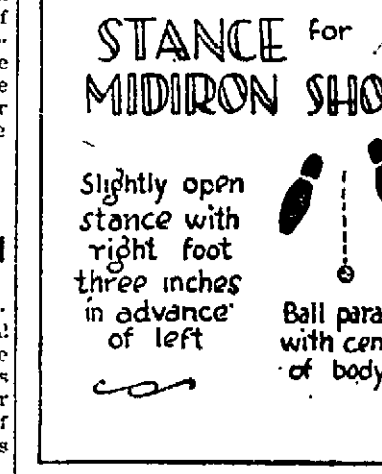

New York—The lightweight title aspirations of Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., were not much advanced in his ten-round engagement with Solly Seeman of New York Friday night at East Chicago, Ill.

A majority of ringside newspaper experts gave Mandell a shade decision but the bout was so close that others considered Seeman the victor. The Rockford youth showed superior speed but Seeman fought furiously and once drove his opponent to the ropes under a heavy body attack.

The initial round was even. Mandell took the next two, the fourth saw heavy slugging and the fifth was a lively mixup. Seeman won the sixth and seventh with a ripping body attack, but Mandell recovered in the eighth and put the New Yorker on the defensive. The ninth and tenth rounds were fought furiously.

Mandell weighed 134½ and Seeman 132½. In another ten-round bout, Pal Moore of Memphis, bantamweight, won from Harold Smith, Chicago.

GOLF As Champions Play It

What is the proper stance for the midiron shot?

BY JOHNNY FARRELL
Cuban Open Champion, 1924

The best stance for playing a midiron shot, in my opinion, is the slightly open stance—that is, with right foot slightly advanced. The ball should be played parallel with the center of the body at an angle with the line of play.

Players should be careful about exaggerating the open stance. The right foot should be about three inches in advance of the left. This will bring your right shoulder facing the line of play. This will help in following through properly, which is the basis of direction and distance.

RIVERVIEW GOLF HOPES OUSTED AT MANITOWOC MEET

Kenneth Dickinson Drops Out of Tourney by Defeat in Second Round

Manitowoc—Sheboygan, Oshkosh and Manitowoc players were scheduled Saturday for the play-off in the Class A event of the Northwestern Golf association tournament at the Lakeside club here, two Sheboygan, one Oshkosh and one Manitowoc player having survived in Friday's qualifying rounds. Feature of Friday's play was the defeat of Kenneth Dickinson of Appleton and "Buster" Book of Sheboygan, the first time that Dickinson has been eliminated in a tournament so early in play.

Players in the semifinals of the tourney Saturday are:

Whittaker, Manitowoc; Gould, Oshkosh; Guenther and Book, Sheboygan. Henry Schuette, Manitowoc, who defeated A. A. Carroll of Oshkosh was defeated by Gould of Oshkosh two up, while I. W. Whittaker of this city won a chance in the semifinals by defeating St. Peter of Marinette, two up. Guenther, Sheboygan, won his match from McNichol, one up.

Whittaker and Gould play the opening round in the semifinal this morning and will be followed by Book and Guenther and the winners of the two matches will go in the finals later in the day, booked for 27 holes.

In Class B, Clindinst lost to Githens, 3 and 2; Baker won over Warren, 1 up; Campbell was 2 up on Pelletier, and Otrich won over Doctor Andrews, the only local man in this flight, 7 up and 6 to play. Semifinals and finals in this class were played Saturday.

In Class C, One local player, Walter Spindler, survived the first flight to get into the first round but was put out by Reiman in a close match one up. Pratt won from Roentz by default, Warren defeated Waite, 5 and 3, and Walker took the match from Kent, 2 up.

In Class D, Bell won over Davies, 3 and 2; Teswilde fell before Ritow, 1 up; Whitnack eliminated Turnball, 3 and 2, and Father Dionne was 1 up on Connell. In addition to these flights there was a consolation match participated in by eliminated players of Class A. This was won by Allen Atwood of this city with a net score of 74. Class B was taken by Wall of

New "Belfast Spider" Seen In Jim M'Larnin Who Conquered Villa

Dopesters Predict Young Westerner Will Cause Trouble for Topnotchers in Feather Class.

San Francisco—There's a new "Belfast Spider" in the making out here in the west.

And like Ike Weir, the original "Spider," he's going to cause all sorts of trouble for the topnotchers in the feather and lightweight divisions. From this distance, he looks certain to be a world champion in one or both classes.

Jimmy McLarnin—born in Belfast, raised in British Columbia, ring-developed in California—is the new "Spider." His complete upset of the dope when he gave the late Pancho Villa a baffling exhibition of boxing and took the decision from the flyweight champion, made him a national figure overnight.

But the win from a champion, the plaudits of the hero worshipers and the offers of big money from all parts of America aren't bothering McLarnin any more than they do "Pop" Foster, his manager, guardian and trainer.

STICK TO COURSE

Back in the days when Foster, a gassed Canadian veteran, used to drag himself up to a little athletic club to watch that scrawny McLarnin kid in knee pants do his stuff the pair figured a course in the boxing world and they refused to be shaken from it.

Under guidance of Foster, an old-time fighter and manager, McLarnin's great boxing ability was built up until the two decided it was time to leave Vancouver and get a start toward the title.

BADGER EDITORS WILL BE GIVEN BANQUET HERE

Chamber of Commerce Arranges for Reception of 150 Publishers on Tour

Wisconsin Press association members who come here Aug. 6 will be tendered a banquet by the chamber of commerce on the evening of their arrival and a sightseeing tour previous to their departure on Aug. 7, according to plans by the publicity and convention committee of the chamber of commerce at a meeting Friday afternoon.

Committees have been appointed to look after the arrangements. About 150 editors of weekly papers of this state will assemble here on the afternoon of Aug. 6 for their annual automobile tour of Wisconsin.

This city is to be their starting point. Each will be sent a letter by the chamber of commerce welcoming him to Appleton and announcing the entertainment plans here.

All will be invited to a banquet at Conway hotel at 615 in the evening. The committee arranging for the dinner consists of Henry J. Pettigrew, L. J. Marshall and Gerald Galpin. A program will be given afterward, consisting of a greeting by city officials, short talks and perhaps musical numbers. This is to be arranged by a committee consisting of H. L. Post, Erik L. Madison and Julius Kopplin.

H. L. Davis was appointed chairman of the reception committee, which will consist of members of the publicity and convention committee and members of Appleton Advertising club. The banquet is to be complimentary to the visitors but all local persons who attend will be asked to pay for their dinners. The evening gathering will be concluded early enough so the editors may attend theater performances here.

Automobiles will be assembled on the morning of Aug. 7 ready for the 4-day ride to other parts of the state. The motorcade will be formed early enough so that the visitors may be taken around the city on a sightseeing tour under escort of the committee and the local police. A stop will be made at the Post-Crescent office for an inspection of the plant. The parking square opposite Conway hotel overnight on Aug. 6 for use of the press members.

Gerald Galpin was elected secretary of the publicity and convention committee for this year.

Mrs. Clarence Gibbs of Detroit, Mich., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Eiler, 1003 W. College-ave.

SPRINKLER SIGNAL, ROOF FIRE CALL OUT TRUCKS

One ru on an accidental call and another to a roof fire were made by the fire department overnight Friday. An alarm was received by the automatic sprinkler system at Appleton Wire Works about 10 o'clock Friday evening. The entire fleet of trucks responded but found that low pressure in the water storage tank had caused the alarm system to function although there was no fire.

The second run was made at 7:10 Saturday morning to the home of Mrs. Eva Cloos, 502 E. Washington-st., where sparks from a chimney had ignited the roof. The fire had made its way into the attic so hose was laid to make certain it could be checked quickly. The blaze was extinguished easily, however, and the damage was slight.

WANT TOO MUCH FOR ALLEY TRACT

Council Ultimatum Gets Reply from Woolworth Co. on Sale of Needed Property

Orders issued to A. C. Bossier, city attorney, to condemn property of F. W. Woolworth Co. so as to straighten the alley at the rear of buildings on E. College-ave in that block brought from the five and ten cent store management the response which has been requested for months. The proposal made, however, is said to be far above anything the city would consider but Mr. Bossier has deferred execution of his orders pending negotiations.

The Woolworth company, although its head officials knew the city wanted action toward solving the alley problem, had let a contract to lay cement surfacing on the ground wanted by the council at the rear of its store. When the council's action last Wednesday was learned, this work was suspended and a letter addressed to the city attorney concerning sale of the property in question.

No definite proposition is made the city beyond the statement that the firm will sell the obstructive portion of its store building to the city at a price based on the amount paid for the property when it was purchased a year or two ago from Greek interests here. The company demands, in return for this, however, that the city pay the cost of remodeling its building. It is necessary to tear down a few feet of it at the rear.

The city council thought a lenient offer to the company would be to stand the expense of remodeling the building if the land used for the public alley would be donated as was done with other parcels nearby. A contractor's estimate for the remodeling amounted to $4,975. If the company's terms were met, however, it is estimated the city would have to expend about $10,000. Mr. Bossier has outlined this situation to the Woolworth interests and hopes to bring about a satisfactory adjustment.

STATE PUTS MARKERS AT HIGHWAY 15 TURN Since the Appleton city council came to its decision to place highway markers on highway 15 at the corner of E. 22. Pacific and N. Lemmings-sts to direct tourists on the highway, regulation state markers have been placed at the corner, according to residents of that vicinity. The corner had been left unmarked and many complaints had been received. The city decided to take the necessary step if the state commission did not take action. No markers have been placed at the corner of College-ave and Oneida-sts, however.

THOMAS MILLER IS IN CUDAHY HOSPITAL—Harold Pindle and Frank Fries Also in Car

Thomas Miller and Harold Pindle were injured Thursday afternoon near Cudahy when a large roadster owned by Frank Fries and occupied by him also, tipped over on the highway. Miller has been confined to a hospital at Cudahy and will be home in a day or two but Pindle was able to return to the city. Fries was unhurt.

The three men had been in Chicago attending the annual reunion of the Rainbow division veterans of the World war. They were on their way home and were a distance south of Milwaukee when the accident occurred. Miller was the wheel and reports received here are that rain had been falling, making the roads slippery, and that the car skidded and overturned.

Miller fractured several ribs and suffered cuts and bruises on his face and body. His condition was not serious but he was kept at the hospital to make sure there would be no untoward developments. Pindle had two ribs cracked and had a few bruises but was able to be about.

FOUR MORE SPEEDERS WAIT FOR NEW JUDGE Friday was another busy day for Outagamie-co Speeders club, with each county motorcop hauling in at least one new member. Elmer Rohm made his arrest at 1:30 Friday morning to start the day and Alfred Dunn and Andrew Miller each added two more before the real speed demons of the club got going one man going 50 miles an hour and another at 55, the fastest of any motorist arrested this year.

Rohm arrested Pat Keapock of Menasha, traveling at 44 miles an hour on highway 15. Dunn got Reuben Palmbach, Neenah, hitting a 45 mile an hour gait on highway 47 and Otto Kiehmeyer of Seymour, traveling 44 miles an hour on the same highway. Miller's speed demons were J. H. McClain, Waupaca, who stepped on the gas for a 55 mile an hour gait on highway 18, and George Packard, Appleton, hitting 50 miles an hour on the same road.

Bridge Blocked E. John-st bridge was closed to traffic Friday afternoon while a government crew drove piles in the government canal at that point. It was necessary to swing the drawbridge to do this work and it stood open for several hours. Traffic was detoured over Lave-st bridge until that time.

POLICE HOT ON TRAIL OF SHORT CHANGE ARTIST

Alleged Swindler Gets Five One Dollar Bills for $5 Note

Merchants here get no rest from the wiles of crooks, for no sooner had they rid the city of check forgers through their vigilance than a new crop of swindlers showed up in the form of short change artists. One succeeded with his trick at Burt's candy store Friday afternoon but was foiled at Volk drug store and F. W. Woolworth Co. five and ten cent store.

The police believe they have positive identification of the crook, however, and a net has been spread for his capture. It is not known whether he visited any other stores here.

A man about 27 years old walked into Burt's candy store late in the afternoon and asked one of the salesgirls to change a $10 bill. She handed him two $5 bills. He then asked change for a $5 bill but held the currency in his hand until the girl had obtained the money from the cash register. While she turned her back he substituted a $1 bill for one of the fives in his hand. She gave him $5 worth of change and he handed her a $1 bill and walked out. Notice was given the police department about half an hour later. Volk drug store also notified the police concerning the man, who found the clerks too sharp for him.

Capt. P. J. Vaughn, acting chief, began work on the case at once. They gained a definite clue through E. Inworth store, who said he knew the man because both were in the public schools at Janesville years ago.

The name was furnished the police department by Mr. Inman, who said the crook now lives in Milwaukee and is somewhat of a rover. He also is said to be a dope fiend and has served time in jail for offenses. He is described as being about 5 feet 8 inches tall, 26 or 27 years old and wore a dark blue suit, a brown Panama hat and a powder blue shirt. He had a 3-day growth of beard.

MARKETS SHOW GENERAL RISE

Favorable Reports Cause American Can to Lead in Record Jump

New York — Expansion of general business as shown by the weekly trade reviews, optimistic prediction that half years earnings by industrial companies would uphold the good showing already reported, and the buoyancy of a recognized market leader—American Can—in connection with the recapitalization rumors, contributed to a general rise in stock prices Saturday. New high records were achieved by many investment shares, with outstanding exhibitions of group strength provided by the railroad, equipment, merchandise, gas, electric power, independent steel and tobacco issues. Among the striking individual movements were the spurs of more than four points in American Can to a record top of 20 3/4 and gains of 3 points by Sears Roebuck, 4 1/2 points by Fairbanks Morse and 6 1/2 points by General Railway Signal. The closing was strong. Sales approximated 650,000 shares.

BAND PLEASES RECORD CROWD

Solo and Feature Numbers of Splendid Program Are Well Received

Anyone who happened to arrive at the city park Friday evening while the 120th Field Artillery band was playing "A Morning in Noah's Ark" would have sworn that Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey's big show had arrived in Appleton ahead of schedule, so realistic was the band's execution of this feature number of the concert program. Squawks, whistles, roars, cat calls, and yelps issuing from various band instruments made the listener feel he was aboard the old Ark himself.

Another number very well played and much appreciated was the "March Slave" by P. Tschalkowsky. Mrs. Oscar Adler, sang several vocal solos, and was encored twice by the large audience. Her most applauded song was "Don't Bring Lulu," a current popular number. Dr. R. C. Finkle of Seymour kept the crowd in an uproar for about half an hour by his exhibition of slight of hand performances, and by the clever line of talk which accompanied his trick stunts.

Another feature number very well received was "Remembrance of Liberty," a cornet solo by Edward F. Mumm, conductor of the band. Percy Fullinwider, former band director, directed the bands accompaniment to Mr. Mumm's solo.

Captain P. J. Vaughn of the police department said the large crowd which attended the concert Friday evening was the most orderly and most quiet of any crowd which ever attended an Appleton band concert.

MILWAUKEANS COMING NORTH ON EXCURSION

Many Milwaukee people will probably take advantage of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad excursion from Milwaukee to Green Bay Sunday, to stop off at Appleton and spend the day with friends and relatives.

Although the destination of the excursion trip is Green Bay, it is thought by officials of the Northwestern road that this trip at reduced rates, will give many people a chance to spend the day with friends and relatives in Fox river valley cities. The round trip fare for the excursion is $2.25, and this rate applies for any city in the valley. About 750 people are expected to go on this excursion.

The excursion train of ten coaches will reach Appleton at 10:15 Sunday morning on its way to Green Bay, and will stop here again at 7:15 in the evening on its return trip to Milwaukee. The train leaves Milwaukee at 7 o'clock Sunday morning, and returns at midnight.

NAVAL SAVANTS FRAME PROGRAM OF PHENOMENA

Eclipses of Sun and Moon Are Predicted Three Years in Advance

By Associated Press
Washington — Prolonged study of the vagaries of the sun and the moon has enabled scientists of the United States Naval Observatory here to work out their eclipses for the next three years. Under the direction of Captain W. S. Eichelberger, U. S. N., they are now starting on the 1929 eclipses.

An annular eclipse of the sun—an eclipse where the rim of the sun shows outside of the eclipsed area—is forecast for July 20-21, this year, but will be invisible in the United States. A partial eclipse of the moon is due August 4, being more or less visible in the eastern state and wholly visible on the Pacific Coast. There will be no eclipse of the moon next year but there will be a total eclipse of the sun on January 14, 1929. It will be visible only from Alaska to the Indian Ocean, and the Naval Observatory will send a party from here to Sumatra to observe it. An annular eclipse of the sun will be visible July 9-10, 1929, in the central Pacific Ocean, and as a partial in northern Australia, the eastern edge of Asia, the United States and Mexico.

In 1927, there will be five eclipses—three of the sun and two of the moon. Seven eclipses in a year is the maximum. Five of the sun and two of the moon, and the least number in twelve months is two, both of the sun, as will be the case in 1926.

An annular solar eclipse, visible in the southern Pacific, will occur January 3, 1927. A total of the moon, June 15, will be visible in the Atlantic Ocean, North America, except the northern border, South America and the Pacific Ocean. A total of the sun, June 29, will be visible in Europe, appearing as a near total at Nome, Alaska. Another total of the moon, in 1927 will take place December 8, visible generally in the Pacific Ocean and in the northern part of North America. A partial eclipse of the sun will occur on December 24.

Another heavenly phenomenon will be seen in 1927 in the transit of Mercury, which will appear as a dot on the sun. On November 10 the transit will take place, visible generally in the Pacific Ocean, Australia and Asia, except in the northern and western portions. It will be visible at Honolulu, Manila and Samoa.

In 1928 three of the sun and two of

WOULD SPARE COYOTES TO KEEP DOWN HARES

By Associated Press
Calgary, Alta.—W. H. Fletcher of Brant, Alberta, has written the department of agriculture of the province that far from encouraging slaughter of coyotes, which has long been a provincial policy, the killing of one of these animals should be made a crime. He explained that jack-rabbits, by consuming crops and damaging trees, had become a scourge to farmers. He expressed belief that coyotes had formerly kept down the number of rabbits.

Fletcher predicted that if coyotes were not permitted to prey upon rabbits, the latter would become such an evil as they did in Australia.

the moon will be the order of eclipses. Captain Eichelberger considers that the total solar eclipse of May 19, that year, will be a curious one, only part of the resulting shadow falling on the earth, appearing as a piece on the south of Africa, and as a partial in South Africa and the southern part of South America. A total of the moon, June 3, will be visible in the western parts of North and South America, the Pacific Ocean, Australia and the eastern border of Asia. Partial solar eclipses will occur June 17 and November 12, a total of the moon transpiring November 27, visible in the western hemisphere.

STANDARD BUICK CIRCLES WORLD

Hard Trip Will Convince Anyone of Dependability of Touring Car

A Standard Buick touring car has made the hazardous trip around the world under conditions that will convince anyone of the dependability of this famous motor car.

It went alone—without driver or mechanic. One Buick dealer drove it to the "next-to-350" different drivers handled it during its travels. It went on a schedule and met that schedule to the dot—never missing an arrival date. And finished its circle of the globe in less time than the Round-the-World Fliers.

A Buick did this without a repair or replacement. Buick's world-wide Authorized Service never was needed, although the car was within the safe and service territory of some Buick

Dodge Brothers dealers are offering an armored sedan which will ride through a fusillade of bullets with safety to the occupants of the car. The car, which is particularly useful to police departments or banks, resembles the standard car in outward appearances. The body is made by the American Armor Corp. Equipment includes bullet-proof vests, a pulmotor, fire extinguisher, tear gas grenades, first aid kit and sawed-off shotguns. Seats are arranged to fold back in Pullman fashion.

MOTOR TRUCKS REDUCE COSTS

Steam Roads Take to Gasoline Propelled Vehicles for Short Hauls

"A firmly established idea that the railroads and the automobile industry are direct competitors is among the most recent of our notions to be started for the discard," says Mr. Schneider, dealer in Reo passenger cars and Speed Wagons in this city. "Not many years ago, it would have been hard to convince the average citizen that two such important industries, dealing in two different types of transportation, could ever get together to their mutual benefit and for the good of business as a whole."

"Now, however, it has become obvious that cooperation between the two has come to stay; and it is also probable that the ultimate results will be an appreciable decrease in operating expenses for the former and the opening of a new and desirable market for the latter."

"Many railroads are now using the motor truck in conjunction with their freight service. In some places the gasoline-propelled vehicles are actually replacing freight trains for carrying smaller pieces of freight between cities. In other cases they are used to bring loads to central freight stations, eliminating lots of costly switching of empty and partially filled freight cars."

"Where the trucks are used in carrying freight between cities, they leave and arrive on regular schedules and are subject to dispatchers' orders just as the trains are. They have the advantages of smaller crews, only two men being required, and lower operating costs for small loads."

"At the same time, they release the regular rolling stock of the railroads, together with their crews from the small loads, making them available for hauling carload shipments. This, it is claimed, benefits both the railroad and the shipper."

"Automobile manufacturers and railroads are working together to discover every phase of railroad service in which the motor truck can be used advantageously. Their success to date practically assures the position of the truck with the railroads."

and a complete line of small tools aid in producing a saving in labor as well as insure absolute accuracy.

In the case of overhaul of differential in either car or truck, we have service men already built up to replace the damaged one, so that it is only a matter of a short time before the car or truck can be again placed in operation. When the necessary repairs to the rear end belong to the car or truck are completed the owner is notified and the change back is made when most convenient.

Adjusting transmission bands, tuning up the motor, aligning the front wheels, and head lamps and testing and filling the battery, are service items that are FREE to any and all Ford Owners at all times.

Our Tow Truck which has the very latest equipment to facilitate the handling of wrecked or disabled cars is also a Free Service to Ford Owners where the tow in is not greater than five miles.

To the man who repairs his own car in his spare time, our stock room offers parts service from 7:00 A. M. until 9:00 P. M. to insure Genuine Ford Parts being at his disposal at all times.

It has always been our aim to serve the Ford Owners with convenient service at a fair price, and we feel our increased sales are in direct response to our efforts."

USE MECHANICAL MOVIE CAMERAS

Motor Driven Machines Replace Operator With Cap
Turned on Head

By Associated Press
Hollywood, Calif.—Mechanical genius, as well as the creative powers of dramatic art which flourished in this moving picture colony, has given a third hand, a mechanical one, to the moving picture photographer.

Heralding the days when the popular conception of the photographer, intently turning a camera crank with his cap twisted about on his head, will be gone, motor driven cameras have recently been placed in operation.

The device is a small motor attached to the camera and connected in such a way as to insure regularity of speed. A press of a button on the tripod lends the desired speed, while the cameraman turns his attention elsewhere until the scene is "shot." The pressing of another button stops the camera.

While the "third hand," directors say, insures regularity of speed more effectively than the most expert cameraman, the attention of the photographer, once taken from the camera, may be directed to lighting effects, which are considered his most important assignment.

CHEVROLET HAS GREAT INCREASE OVER LAST YEAR

Production by August 20 Will Exceed Total for Previous Year

R. H. Grant, general sales manager of Chevrolet Motor Company, a division of General Motors, announces that by August 20 Chevrolet production in 1925 will have exceeded the total 1924 production.

Chevrolet's 1924 production was 305,303 vehicles; in the first six months of 1925, total production reached 246,081, or within 59,222 of the 1924 total. Production records were broken in April, May and June, with 54,944 vehicles in the latter month; June, 1925, was the high production month for Chevrolet, with the exception of October, 1923. June sales to dealers were 54,725 and at the end of the month there still remained in the hands of Chevrolet dealers 24,654 unfilled retail orders.

"I stated recently," said Mr. Grant, "that the automotive industry was becoming stabilized and that the undesirable peaks and depressions of production were being flattened out. This statement is substantiated by Chevrolet production figures for April, May and June."

"In April we produced 52,236 cars and trucks; in May, 52,853; and in June, 54,944. Thus, we had a variation of only 2,708 between the highest and the lowest figures in the three months. Of even greater significance is the fact that our production crept up instead of down during a period in which past experience has led manufacturers to expect a decided decrease."

"Another significant figure is contained in the statement of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce that the May, 1925, Chevrolet car sales were 233.6 per cent of the May, 1924 sales; and that the Chevrolet truck sales for May, 1925, were 297.6 per cent of those for May, 1924."

GOOD SERVICE BRINGS TRADE, BRANDT MOTTO

Ford Dealer Finds Day and Night Service Especially Valuable

In a recent interview, Mr. Brandt stressed the point of service as being a builder of good will which is a requisite in the sales of automobiles. He said, "The means an efficient service department plus the proper equipment and the tools to facilitate the speedy repair."

"I have found that Day-and-night service has been especially valuable for those who use cars for business purposes, such as business concerns, physicians, salesmen, collectors, etc., and all pronounce it a great convenience and a time saver."

People like the idea of being given in advance a flat rate for making the repairs. All appreciate the removal of the old-time bugaboo of leaving a car and not knowing what the repairs are going to cost, and perhaps finding the bill larger than they thought it would be.

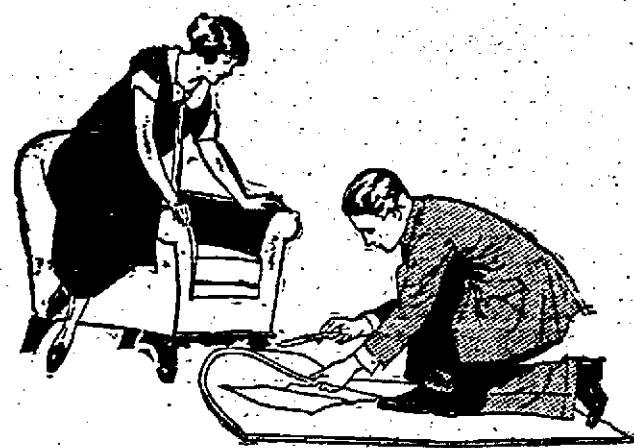

All cars coming to our service department are greeted by Mr. Clifford our service manager and the needs are determined and the car is either retained on the service floor if minor repairs are necessary, or sent up to the second floor where the reconditioning is done in true factory style. On this floor are modern machines for meeting every service need. A chain hoist and track is used and work is quickly conveyed to the various locations where the repairs are made. A cleaning tank is provided wherein all parts are thoroughly cleaned. In a motor overhaul this removes the tendency of motor leaking oil, because there is no grit and grease to hinder the crankcase from being drawn tightly to the cylinder block or the transmission cover and crankcase overhauled.

The paint is removed by the cleansing fluid in the tank and the differential is repainted making the repair a complete service.

Valve grinding is another important item in maintenance of an automobile. All valves are refaced on a special electric grinder, which supercedes any effort of hand work. The valve seats in the block are reamed to the proper angle and consistency so that perfect valve action is assured.

In the replacement of a crankshaft perfect alignment is necessary. Our equipment includes rebarbeting jigs and milling tools to rehabilitating the Ford or Fordson motor block, and the work is done in the same manner as the factory would do it. Worn cylinders are rebored in our own shop by a special machine, assuring perfect motor operation when the repair is complete.

Only Beating Will Dislodge It!

In every rug there is dirt which only beating will dislodge. This you can easily prove....

The heavy, sandy, sharp-edged grit which is carried in from the street on soles of shoes and scuffed off in walking, soon settles to the very bottom of the nap.

Sweeping will not dislodge this dirt, nor will air-suction alone. It is embedded! It must be shaken, vibrated loose, and only beating will do this. Prove it now!

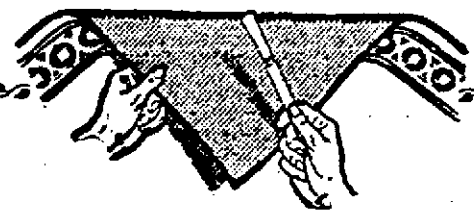

There is no better way to convince yourself that your present cleaning methods are inadequate, than by making this test.

There is no better way to prove that you need a Hoover, for in addition to sweeping and air-cleaning, The Hoover beats.

*Make this test right now! Turn over a corner of a rug; with the handle of an ordinary table-knife, or something of equal weight, give the under or warp side 15 to 25 sharp taps, and watch the dirt dance out from the nap depths onto a piece of paper; feel the destructive character of this grit. This is the dirt only beating will dislodge.

Correct use of The Hoover causes this embedded dirt to be vibrated to the surface by the rapid, gentle beating of the Hoover brush, as powerful suction lifts the rug from the floor, and draws all the dirt into the dust-tight bag. Phone us today. Let us show you The Hoover in your own home.
